ENDOWMENT CAMPAIGN COMPLETE

The Endowment Completed

Just exactly one hour and eighteen minutes before the old year of nineteen hundred and fourteen died, the old college bell boomed resonantly forth announcing the fact that Pacific's endowment campaign had been won.

In spite of ill-health and innumerable pessimistic prophecies, President Pennington, with the able assistance of Charles O. Whitely, Ezra Woodward, Evangeline Martin and other of Pacific's loyal friends, had gamely kept up the fight for one hundred thousand dollars before January 1st. On Thursday afternoon, December 31, they called a meeting of those interested in the campaign and announced that between seven and eight thousand dollars yet remained to be raised before midnight, or else the campaign was a failure and Pacific must close her doors; also that they were at the end of their string as far as money was concerned. For the time being, gloom held full sway, but not for long. With the characteristic loyalty of Pacific's true friends, the little band of less than one hundred who were present added some four thousand dollars to their previous gifts, and immediately adjourned to "rustle" the remaining three thousand five hundred.

"Busy" was the word from that time on. Some telephoned, some rode and talked, some walked and talked, others just talked and talked, but get the money they all did.

Between 7 and 8 o'clock the student body marched through town with banners, songs and yells, announcing the final endowment rally at eight, then go-

Pacific vs. Mt. Angel.

As a part of the celebration of the successful completion of the endowment campaign, held on Friday evening, January 8, the student body financed a basket ball game with Mt. Angel, making it complimentary to the public. The gymnasium was packed to the side lines with an enthusiastic crowd of rooters. Special thanks is due to the support of the High School delegation, who were "right there" with their snappy yells.

The "Angels" had the Quakers outclassed, both in size and weight, but the final score of 13 to 8 in favor of the visitors was a result chiefly of their success on long shots, the first goal being shot from slightly more than half the length of the floor. The game was very fast from the beginning.

Replogle, forward, and Butt and Haworth, guards, played the stellar part for the Quakers. Replogle caged the three field goals for the home team. Colcord, who substituted for Hinshaw at forward the last half, played a very fast and aggressive game. Edwards and Elliott played center.

Big Celebration at College.

Friday evening, Jan. 8, there occurred in Wood-Mar Hall, a meeting which will go down in history as one of the most enthusiastic, and one in which the spirit of self-sacrifice and devotion to the welfare of Pacific College was more clearly shown than in any meeting in the history of the institution. The board of managers, faculty, student body and a host of friends of the college met to celebrate the successful completion of the endowment campaign.

President Woodward, of the board of managers, presided. Music for the occasion was furnished by the School of Music. Prof. Hawkins gave a humorous reading, after which President Pennington "spoke for himself" in his usual stirring manner. He read a long list of the contributors to the endowment fund, and extended to them his sincere thanks for their gifts to the college.

Mrs. Evangeline Martin, secretary, spoke on behalf of the college board; Prof. R. W. Lewis, vice-president, spoke on behalf of the faculty; Paul H. Lewis, spoke on behalf of the student body; D. D. Coulson, '03, spoke on behalf of the alumni; Mrs. Pennington spoke on behalf of the Woman's Auxiliary, the association which has done so much for Pacific College. Mayor J. C. Colcord spoke on behalf of the city of Newberg, and Attorney Clarence Butt ended the program by a sincere and enthusiastic address on behalf of the Newberg business men, showing what a great asset the college was to the city. After a few remarks by Mr. Woodward, the

C. A. Phipps at Y. M. C. A.

The college Y. M. C. A. was fortunate in having a visit from Charles A. Phipps, the well known Sunday School worker of Oregon. Mr. Phipps led the Association meeting Wednesday, January 6, his subject being "Temptations." Probably no other man in the state is better fitted than he to present this subject to young men and help them to solve their problems. He has the confidence of the boys and young men and can advise them how to make the most out of life. Mr. Phipps emphasized the fact that the ability to withstand temptation does not come so much at the time of the trial, but as a result of the strong moral fiber built up previously. By a very vivid account of climbing a steep mountain, he forcefully illustrated the fact that one cannot accomplish the hard task alone, but must have the help of a greater power.

Chafing Dish Party.

The Misses Nellie and Elma Paulsen's home on College street was a scene of much merriment New Year's eve, when they entertained a number of their girl friends. Various games were played, marshmallows roasted and corn popped. As the old year came to a close, Miss Elma presiding at the chafing dish, served a most delicious Welsh rabbit.

Those enjoying the hospitality were Misses Mable Rush, Alice Rees, Helen George, Gladys Hannon, Mae Moore and Daisy Newhouse. The out of town guests were Florence Rees, Monmouth, Laura Hammer, Corvallis, and Mary Jones, Rex.

The large crowd at the basket ball game only goes to show how interested the people of the town are in the college. It is certainly inspiring to a team to realize they are strongly supported, not only by the student body, but by the townspeople. At our next game we trust we will see as large a crowd as at the last.

The way the Newberg High School students turned out to the Mount Angel-P. C. basket ball game, and the amount of enthusiasm they brought with them was splendid. The college appreciates the support the High School gave, and feel that they expressed the spirit which should prevail on both sides. Now that the High School has taken the lead and attended our first game, we hope our students will patronize the high school games and show them we are loyal to Newberg and wish her success in all athletic activities.

Y. W. C. A.

Resolved, That the Y. W. C. A. New Year's meeting was a success. With Mary Pennington as leader, a goodly number of very helpful resolutions were given, which had been made and kept. The meeting of January 13 was led by the first year girls of the academy, the topic being "College Girls Through Freshman Spectacle." It was surprising to find how little there was in P. C. in which to be disappointed and how much over which to rejoice.

Alumni Notes.

[It will be possible, sometime during the school year, to mention in this department the larger part of the alumni and old students. Any information in regard to changes in addresses, or changes in business, should be sent to the editor of the Crescent or to the president of the Alumni Association.]

Lewis Saunders, '06, is engaged in the real estate business in Portland.

Miss Laura Hammer, '11, is teaching mathematics in Corvallis High School.

Harvey A. Wright, class of '10, is principal of the schools of Greens Forks, Indiana.

Charles B. Wilson, '97, moved to McMinnville the first of the year to take up his work as county treasurer.

Mrs. Florence Wilson Chalmers, '05 is a resident of Forest Grove, where Mr. Chalmers is in the automobile business.

A. Dolan Kenworthy, Ex. '10, is building up a good business in the way of furniture and undertaking at Lents, Oregon.

Cecil J. Hoskins, '07, is a resident of Newberg since the first of the year, where he has a position as assistant cashier in the United States National Bank.

There is talk of an alumni basket ball team to play a practice game with the college team. We have also heard reports of plans for a Faculty - Alumni game. Watch for further reports, for these games will be worth seeing.

Prof. McMinn suggested that a ladder up the inside of a silo would help one to get at the feed.

Tell us, pretty co-ed,
Why you frill your hair;
Is it to be stylish,
Or just passing fair?

We have often wondered
And we'd like to know,
If 'tis for attraction
Or a fine art show?

Locals.

Ross Miles and Lloyd Edwards spent a part of Saturday in Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hinshaw, of Portland, attended the endowment meeting Friday, Jan. 8.

Arthur Tasto, one of Professor Hull's former pupils in Salem, came down for a visit with the Hulls Sunday, Jan. 8.

Laura Hammer, '11, professor of mathematics at Corvallis High School, visited friends in Newberg during the holidays.

Claude Newlin, who is teaching in the Aberdeen High School this year, came home for a good Christmas dinner and vacation.

Henry Keeney spent the holidays, and one more, at Everett, Washington. Judging from his high spirits since returning, he was quite successful in the object of his visit.

We are told that our bachelor professor, M. D. H., yea, even he, has at last been rounded up by one of the golden arrows—for he is known to have spent a generous portion of his vacation with a young lady at Chehalis, Washington.

At the annual election of the Oratorical Association, held Jan. 7, Delbert Replogle was elected president; Stella Hubbard, secretary; Ross Miles, treasurer. The seniors elected R. Gladys Hannon as their member on the executive committee.

Prof. Hawkins and Delbert Replogle attended the first meeting of the "Athletic Council of the Independent Colleges of Oregon," held at the Portland Y. M. C. A. last Saturday. A report of this meeting was given at chapel Tuesday. The purpose of the council is to make physical education of more value to the entire student body.

A number of young people enjoyed a very delightful time at the home of Everett George, Friday evening, Jan. 1. The evening was spent in playing games. Those present were Lorena Keeney, Eva Colcord, Henrietta Welch, Ruth Hinshaw, Frank Colcord, Dale Butt, Delbert Replogle and Everett George.

The Y. W. girls entertained the members of the High School Y. W. last Friday after school. After a due season of introductions and informal games, the guests were shown the secrets of Wood-Mar Hall until they discovered cozy little corners where tea and wafers were served. Florence Kaufman, assisted by Ruth Crozer and Beatrice Nordyke, poured in the Y. W. room and Lyra Miles and Eva Colcord in the rest room.

On the evening of January 15, the lady members of the faculty entertained the men of the faculty at the home of President Pennington. The evening was very pleasantly spent with cryptic poetry and hot tamales. An interesting feature of the evening was the favors by which Miss Kenworthy very cleverly "let the cat out of the bag" and announced her engagement to Robert M. Henley.

The seniors journeyed to Springbrook last Friday to the home of Walter H. Wilson, where a very pleasant evening was spent. They were dressed in old Quaker style, and a severe penalty was inflicted on those who did not use the plain language. Events in Quaker history were presented in charades, which proved very amusing. Most delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Wilson.

Girls Basketball Organized.

The physical development of the girls has been sadly neglected this winter, and it has been decreed that the girls gymnasium shall no longer be a deserted thing of the past. At a recent meeting of the girls interested in athletics Lourella Beals was elected president and Mae Moore secretary and treasurer of the organization. The work is under the direction of Prof. McMinn, and from the enthusiasm and large representation of girls who have turned out, the girls' gymnasium will henceforth be the scene of flying feet, hands and hair-pins on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Freshmen Entertain Sophs.

The freshmen entertained the sophomores last Friday evening, January 15, at a delightful party given at the home of Mrs. Hodgkin. A very pleasant evening was spent in playing games of various kinds. This was followed by an extemporaneous program, which ended with an original stunt by the sophomore class. Refreshments were served at a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allen chaperoned.

D. R. (when called on for a speech)—"You've got me up a stump."

A. B.—"Well, give us a stump speech."

One of our noble seniors decided that the reason it was so dark the other morning was because of the lack of light.

W. A. G. (in Y. M. room)—"Here is a letter I have forgotten to read."

M. G. E. (trying to study)—"I wish you had forgotten how to use your tongue."

Steadily the money came in.
Notes arrived in dribbles, show-occasion. At twenty minutes till
