BASKET BALL SEASON STARTS WITH A RUSH

The Senior-Junior Team Is Victor in a Hotly Contested Series.

| STANDINGS | | | |
|--------------------|-----|------|------|
| | Won | Lost | Pct. |
| Junior-Senior..... | 3 | 0 | 1000 |
| Soph-Frosh..... | 2 | 1 | .666 |
| Academy..... | 1 | 2 | .333 |
| Faculty..... | 0 | 3 | .00 |

The basket ball season opened last Wednesday when the first of a series of six inter-school games was played. The series as a whole was very close and exciting, in several games, the result being in doubt until the final whistle blew. Considerable spirit was shown among the student body in "rooting" for the teams and this added "pep" to the players. Pre-season form was evident throughout the series and the team work was rather spasmodic.

The Junior-Senior contingent showed early in the series that they were a winning combination and developed a machine which scored 108 points to their opponents 30. In the first game of the series they had little trouble in winning from the Faculty 35 to 9. The first half was fairly close, but in the second half the Seniors came back strong and rolled up the score. The following is the line-up:

|----------------------------|-------------|
| Junior-Seniors (35) | Faculty (9) |
| Replogle..... F..... | Taggart |
| Jones..... F..... | Hawkins |
| Gulley..... C..... | R. W. Lewis |
| M. Elliott..... G..... | Perisho |
| E. Pearson-Nichols. G..... | A. Pearson |

In the second game played that evening the Soph-Fresh bunch defeated the Academy 8 to 7. This was by far the closest game of the series and interest was at its highest pitch from start to finish. The diminutive Preps excelled in passing but could not locate the basket. The following is the line-up of the two teams:

PROF. M. D. HAWKINS

PROFESSOR HAWKINS TO READ

On Monday evening, Nov. 1, will occur the second of the piano fund entertainments, in which Prof. Hawkins will give several readings. That these alone are well worth more than the price of admission is self-evident, but the many other excellent features will make the occasion one of more than usual interest. The program follows:

1. Waltz, for eight hands and two pianos.....Moszkowski
2. Reading, "The Parson's Conversion".....Murray
3. { a "Song of the Stars"..... Wood
b "The Swallows".....Hull
4. { a "His Symptoms".....Butler
b "Elocutionists'Curfew" Nesbit
5. Song, with violin and cello obbligato—Doris..... Nevin
6. Reading, "The Great Pancake Record".....Johnson

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE PARTY

At the invitation of the class of '18, the class of '19 gathered with them at Kanyon Hall Oct. 23 for the first class party of the year. The Freshmen responded eagerly to the request for them to be seated on the floor, and after donning green paper bibs and napkins, did such justice to bowls of bread and milk that thereafter the Sophomores were moved to treat them as equals. Musical games and contests followed after which dainty refreshments were served. The party was chaperoned by Miss Lewis and Prof. Taggart.

ALUMNAL INTEREST

Miss Jessie Britt '09 is spending several weeks in California visiting the Fairs and relatives.

Paul V. Maris '07 at present farm expert of Marshall, Mo., has been elected state leader of County Agricultural Agents for Oregon and will return about the first of the year to assume the duties of his new office.

The Alumni Association has been invited to participate in the festivities of "College Alumni Night" at the Manufacturers and Land Products Exposition in Portland on the night of November 10th.

C. J. Edwards '93 formerly president of the Yamhill Electric Co. and now owner and manager of the Coast Power Co. of Tillamook has been elected a Director of the First National Bank of that city.

Victor Rees '13 recently returned from several weeks spent at the San Francisco exposition.

CONGRESSMAN HAWLEY SPEAKS

Hon. W. C. Hawley, Congressional representative of the first Oregon district was in Newberg Friday, Oct. 22, and paid Pacific a short visit, speaking at the chapel service.

He encouraged the members of the faculty and student body in their work and pointed out the fact that the future greatness of the nation is dependent upon a trained and educated citizenship.

Each student has possibilities lying dormant within him but they need developing. Abraham Lincoln was the most unpromising of youths but he made use of his opportunities. It is the struggle that counts.

In all things we must bear in mind "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt and thieves break through and steal, but rather lay up for yourselves treasure in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt nor thieves break through and steal, for where your treasure is there will your heart be also."

PARLETTE OPENS LYCEUM COURSE

Meets a Large and Enthusiastic "Class" in the "University of Hard Knocks."

Ralph Parlette served the "soup" at the first number of the Lyceum course Friday night, October 22nd. He introduced his lecture by saying that the management of the course had provided a great feast for the people of Newberg this year, and then added, "This is the soup," It is a safe guess that everybody for once liked "soup" and it "tasted" like more.

Of the many things that might be said of the man and the lecture it can truly be said, "They're different." He possesses the most contagious laugh you ever heard and the lecture was full of wisdom, humor and homely illustrations that kept the audience in an uproar most of the time and fixed the theme indelibly in the minds of the listeners. While interwoven with the humorous, there was a pathetic thread that could not be overlooked.

The subject of the lecture was "The University of Hard Knocks." "In this school," he said, "we learn not from books, but from bumps. There are two kinds of bumps, those we need and those we do not need. There is a lesson in every bump.

He compared life to a barrel of apples in which all the small ones had shaken down and the large ones were on top, saying: "A little man always shakes down and a big man shakes up. Luck doesn't depend on the "hump," it depends on the "humpee." Get ready for a place and the barrel will do the rest."

"The greatest gets to the top. We get greatness by giving out of our lives. All we ever get in life, we get in the school of service.

"When we go to college, we're not getting an education; we're

The present school year has started with a zip, interest is good and the general school spirit is excellent but there is yet one element in our school life that needs stronger development. That particular element is the Booster spirit; by booster spirit however is not meant that arrogant, conceited, pharisaical attitude that is so characteristic of some student bodies but rather the ability to know a good thing, appreciate our particular advantages and exceptionally bright prospects and tell others about them if they are interested and stir up an interest in them if you find anyone who is lacking in that essential element.

That we do have many things worthy of our best efforts and things of which we have a right to be proud there can be no question. If you doubt it just ask somebody that knows. For instance our Faculty are in many respects more efficient and able than in years past, our Student body is live, progressive and wide awake. Have you heard anything about Basket Ball prospects—well, they have been away yonder worse and far from bad then, in Oratory there is no good reason why we should not get several blue ribbons, and likewise in debate, scholarship, base ball, etc.

Let's get under the burden of things and boost; it is worth the effort to both of us, to our friends and to our school. Don't wait for some one else to start it but do it yourself, do it quick, do it right and do it NOW.

E. G. "It seems as though I can't study this year."

L. E. "Yes, I can remember the time when I felt the same way; seemed as though my thoughts were always travelling to some one else."

E. G. "I should say."

L. E. "She was a pretty nice girl, too."

Pause. E. G. "Oh!"

AGORETON NOTES

The last meeting of the Agoreton Society had reason to be a great inspiration to those who are reached most easily through their stomachs. The overstocked condition of the treasury led the society to feel that the time was drawing nigh for a good old feed, but these feelings did not lie dormant in the minds of said society. They materialized into action, and the deed was done. At Kanyon Hall on October 19 the members of the society met, with raving appetites. They were unnecessarily detained by a business meeting, which was followed by an uncalled-for program. The "eats" were waiting. The program was long and drawn out. The "eats" were melting. Although M. D. made us laugh, it seemed he never would quit. Mr. Gilbert, an ex-student of Reed College, who had been appointed critic for the evening, gave a short, snappy report with several very helpful suggestions, and the meeting was turned over to the social committee. Oh! those eats. We had 'em! We of the Agoreton Society have decided that if any one designs to overstock the coffers of the organization, the same shall be in order at all times, either day or night.

Boys, watch the bulletin board for programs. By all means join the society, be a loyal member and increase your knowledge of the ways and means of life.

Y. W. C. A.

The finance committee took charge of the regular Wednesday morning meeting on October 13. The need for more money to carry on our work and that of our missionary in Japan was presented, and systematic giving strongly urged. At the close of the meeting a number signed cards promising to give a definite amount each month. Marjorie Gregory and Elizabeth Anderson gave us our first special music of the year, "The Lord Is My Shepherd."

Conference reports were given October 20 by Miss Sutton and Myrtle Thomas, who told of the good times and of the inspiration to be had at Seabeck.

Esther Miles took for her subject for October 27, "The Give and Take of Life." The benefits derived from giving to and taking from others were discussed, emphasizing the special obligation of the Christian girl to give of herself.

The "Student Standard of Action" books have come. The work promises to be of more than usual interest and benefit.

Y. M. C. A.

On October 13 Alden Sanders led a testimony meeting in which great interest was shown by the response.

October 20 Rev. Upton spoke on the topic, "Filling Your Place." He said that people were not filling the places they should and that they should start early in life and find what their work is, what they have natural gifts for and what they can do. Having found their work they will be called to duty. After school is over do not stop studying; school is but the training place in which to begin study. Then they should have the spirit of God to help.

Last Wednesday Prof. R. W. Lewis led with a text from Luke 20. He said we are all in debt to God, but we may pay that debt. If our very best is done we are living a blameless life. We should apply these tests to our life: "Is there anything in my life that I would be ashamed for God to see?" and "Are the things in my mind and life what God would associate with?"

TREFIAN SOCIETY

The society met in the dormitory parlors at 4 o'clock, October 13. Seven new members were received into the society, making a total enrollment of 23.

The opening number on the program was a pretty song by Esther Terrell. The thought contained in the words is very good: "Make believe the world's all right, And the people in it, too."

Esther Miles and Mary Pennington responded bravely and quite fluently when called upon for impromptu speeches. Esther Miles gave several good reasons why domestic science should be included in the college course. Among other things, it gives a girl some realization of all that her mother has done. Mary Pennington told of several ways in which the literary society had helped her and how it could help others by training them how to speak intelligently and composedly before an audience.

Everyone was wondering what the stunt would be and everyone was agreeably surprised. The chorus of "Old Black Joe" was given with very striking and interesting accompaniments by Mildred Benson, Hazel Paulsen and Beatrice Nordyke.

After the laughter had subsided, Ruth Hinshaw gave a reading, "Heard Over the Telephone" The last number was an instrumental solo by Alta Gumm, entitled "The Butter Fly Dance." The critic's report, in conclusion, showed that the society had made a good beginning, in that everyone on the program took part willingly and that all the members attended faithfully.

Mr. Bundy was a chapel visitor Oct. 26.

Miss Minnie Dean was a college visitor Oct. 28.

Mrs. Weesner and mother, Mrs. Bundy, were chapel visitors Oct. 28.

"Plute" Edwards journeyed to Vancouver on the 30th to see the soldiers.

Miss Nell Reuter, former student of P. C., was a visitor here last week.

The work on the gymnasium roof has been practically completed by the boys.

Norma Harvey was absent October 14, suffering from a slight attack of the grippe.

Some of the faculty have a different "expression" on their chin since recent basket ball practice.

Mr. Rogers, of White Salmon, was here visiting his sons, Raymond and Russell, Saturday, Oct. 23.

Miss Lyra Miles, member of last year's sophomore class, is visiting with friends at Pacific this week-end.

The Glee Club held its first meeting for practice Monday, Oct. 18. Prospects for the club are very promising.

"Swatting flies" in the library is quite a favorite pastime these days. Some of the students are getting quite proficient. For further particulars see R. H. D.

Peculiar sounds have been floating through the halls and corridors of the college the past week. Investigation disclosed the fact that the Men's Glee Club try-outs were being "pulled off."

Ruth White, who was called to her home in Salem Friday, Oct. 22, by the death of her grandmother, returned Monday, Oct. 25. Her sister, Belle White, Pacific Academy '14, accompanied her, spending several days with old friends.

Oct. 14 is a date never to be forgotten among P. C. students. On that long-to-be-remembered day the following announcement appeared upon the board in the library: "Seating of college students now posted in library." Up to this time we had arranged ourselves near our dearest friends. Confusion bordering on panic reigned for some time as we attempted to find and hold our new locations. The feelings of none were spared, whole families being separated with, seemingly, the most cold-blooded cruelty.

Friday, Oct. 22, the sophomore "preps" entertained the first years at the home of W. E. Terrell, under the careful chaperonage of Professors Hawkins and Sutton. A jolly time was reported by all.

RUMORS FROM AFAR

Last Saturday P. U. defeated the Mt. Angel Catholics to the tune of 27 to 7. Today they tie up with Albany College. The result of this game will be watched with interest for dope on next Saturday's game between P. U. and W. U. Today W. U. plays U. of O. at Salem.

Another item of interest in football circles will be today's game between O. A. C. and the Michigan Aggies at East Lansing, Michigan.

"If you would not be caught, do not do it."

"A character is never an accident."

"When you get your check from home do not buy Lowneys and cut glass the first thing."

"There is one searching question that people are forever asking behind our backs—'Can he be trusted?'"

"Reputations are more fragile than glass and more precious than diamonds."

"The finer and larger you become the more you will love and appreciate your father and mother."

Extracts from Willamette Collegian.

CHAPEL HAPPENINGS

Prof. Lewis faced us one morning with "Do it Now!" Procrastination—never doing today what we can put off until tomorrow—is one of the greatest sins of the age. "He who follows two hares, will catch neither, so choose your life work now. Look for big things." "The eagle does not catch flies." What we are now, determines in a large measure what we will be tomorrow, so we must succeed today if we expect to succeed in the future.

Prof. Hawkin's "Concern" for chapel on Oct. 15th, was inspired by the reading of an advertisement for a professor of "Allerleiwissenschaft." We all need good wholesome criticism, but who is to do the criticising? So far as we know, there have been no applicants for such a position in P. C.

"How shall I ever get done all that I have to do?" Mrs. Hodgin helped us to solve this problem Oct. 26th. First, be thankful you've got a job; there are lots of people in the world today who are miserable because they have nothing to do. Second, do one thing at a time, and do it well. "Plan your work and work your plan." Be master of your work and not a slave to it. Learn to do the right thing at the right time in the right way.

C. J. "This new watch of mine is about the most rotten jumble of wheels I've ever seen" Rep. "Why?"

C. J. "I've only had it a day and a half and it's stopped running."

Rep. "Did you wind it?"

C. J. "Oh."

"It's difficult to achieve greatness by the matrimonial route."

In the games the second evening the Seniors again showed their superiority by winning from the Academy 40 to 9. In the first half the Preps held them pretty close but in the second half the Seniors scored almost at will. In the second game the Soph-Fresh bunch beat the Faculty 22 to 15. In the second half the Faculty came back strong tying with their opponents in this half. Taggart assumed the stellar role for the Profs. and scored every point for them in the last half.

In the games Friday evening the Seniors capped the championship by defeating the Soph-Fresh team 33 to 12. Replogle and Gulley starred for the Seniors while Wiley played a good game for their opponents. The Soph-Fresh team was somewhat handicapped by the loss of Guyer, removed on account of injuries in the early part of the game. Vern Herrington, who was expected to have been of great assistance to the underclassmen, was unable to participate in the series due to a bad shoulder.

The series showed that there is plenty of material in school from which to choose a good team. Coach Lewis will have to fill the gap left by the loss of two veteran guards, but with the old men left as a nucleus, there is no reason why P. C. will not be ably represented this year. J.
