LEAGUE BASKET BALL SCHEDULE IS ARRANGED

Colleges in League Last Year to Play—Pacific University May Be Forced to Drop Out on Account of Enlistments.

The Athletic Council of the Independent Colleges of Oregon was called to meet at the Portland Y.M.C.A. on Saturday, December 1, Chairman A. M. Grilley, physical director of the Y.M.C.A., presiding.

Four of the colleges were represented, as follows: Pacific University by Prof. Hamelin, McMinnville College by Prof. Van Orsdel and Manager Steele, Philomath College by Prof. Bennett, and Pacific College by Prof. Lewis and Manager Howard Elliott.

Mr. Grilley first introduced the subject of educational work supplementary to athletics. After discussing various plans, each school represented undertook to offer a series of at least three lectures on hygiene or some related subject. These lectures are to be given principally by local physicians. It is to be hoped that this work can be given more prominence later.

There were two lines of athletic activities for discussion, the Hexathelon meet and basket ball. None of the schools represented reported favorably as to the Hexathelon as it was held two years ago, although there was a general feeling that something of this nature might prove valuable earlier in the school year. The basket ball schedule for the season was then arranged as below. Prof. Hamelin of Pacific University had been instructed not to make a schedule on account of a scarcity of team material. P. U. was included in the schedule, however, with the understanding that in case a team were not put out by the school the games could be canceled.

Referees were arranged for the games as follows: Botsford of Reed College at P. C. Jan. 11;

JUNIOR-SENIOR TEAM WINS SERIES

The inter-class game ended November 23, the Senior-Junior team lead with three straight victories, the Sophomore team holding second place, the Freshman team third and the Academy fourth. These four teams were the ones chosen by the athletic council as the best representatives of the classes.

The first game between the Sophs and Preps resulted in a victory for the Sophs—29 to 4. The same afternoon the Senior-Junior team defeated the Freshmen—28 to 16.

The next afternoon's games resulted in a victory for the Senior-Junior team against the Sophs—26 to 17. The Freshmen defeated the Academy—18 to 4.

In the final games the Senior-Junior team defeated the Academy 34 to 4 and the Sophomores

CONFERENCE OF COLLEGE PROFS. HELD IN SALEM

Willamette College is Host to Faculties of Independent Colleges of Oregon—President Pennington Speaks.

Pacific College was represented by three members of the faculty at the annual conference of presidents and faculties of the Independent Colleges of Oregon on Friday and Saturday of last week. The conference was held at Salem, Willamette University being host. President Pennington, Miss Sutton and Miss McCracken represented Pacific College.

Every one of the eight institutions in the association were represented, and the conference throughout was full of interest. The reports from the various colleges show that some of them have been hard hit by the war, but all are agreed that it is the duty of the denominational college to push its work as strongly as possible in these days, that leaders may be developed as rapidly as possible for the great work that will be to do after the war.

There was no more earnest session of the conference than that of Friday evening, which considered the topic, "After the War, What?" The discussion of this subject was presented by President Pennington.

The conference comes to Pacific College next year, at the time of the Thanksgiving recess.

The colleges affiliated in this association are Albany College, Eugene Bible University, McMinnville College, Pacific College, Pacific University, Philomath College, Reed College and Willamette University.

Francis Clark, Horace Terrell, Corwin Hinshaw and Harold Lee attended the Boys' Y.M. Conference at Eugene. The conference began Friday morning and closed Sunday night. The theme of the whole conference was "The Challenge of War." Two of the leaders were secretaries from Camp Lewis. Ex-Mayor Albee of Portland and Churchill, Oregon's Superintendent of Education, spoke.

REV. CARTER TO LEAD MEETINGS

Beginning next Monday and running throughout the week during the Chapel periods, Rev. Carter will hold a series of special meetings under the auspices of the Christian Associations. It has been several years since any such meetings have been held in college, and the cabinets of the Christian Associations have felt for some time that this winter would be a good time for some such services.

Mr. Carter is a very strong speaker and the meetings will be very interesting and helpful. The faculty has co-operated with the students and given over chapel for the week to the meetings. It is hoped that they will be very beneficial to the life of the school.

A further result of the theft of a few Freshman caps is that the whole class has discontinued wearing the green. Those persons who took the caps have now fully defeated the purpose of the whole student body, and if possible some form of discipline should be used when they are found, as culprits always are.

The men decided to discontinue the Agoretton Literary Society late last year because no one could find time to prepare programs. This was when the Glee Club was making its final preparations for concert. Now the Glee Club is not practicing because of the illness of Prof. Hull, and it behooves the fellows to get into something. A literary society is of invaluable aid in learning to appear in public and to make a good appearance. This is also a thing required by the world of college graduates. If our education is to be the best we need the help of such work. It is hoped that a meeting will soon be called.

Mention was made in the last issue of the Crescent of the way in which the Sophomore class had failed to recognize the challenge of the Freshman class in regard to securing of more Crescent subscriptions. The question had been discussed by members of the class, and they stated that the matter was to be treated as a joke. Some of the esteemed class of twenty were evidently not satisfied with the former breach of etiquette and last week the Freshman received the following letter, which speaks for itself:

To the Freshmen Class:

Your challenge of November ninth has just come to the notice of the Sophomore class this twenty-second day of November. So much business of importance has occupied the time of the said class that we have been unable to consider your proposition heretofore. As we discover that this is the day for the contest to close, we trust that you, in carrying out your part of the contest, have aided the circulation manager of the Crescent a great deal.

Should this not be true, we would recommend that you do so at once, so as to make known the existence of your class, by some such contest among yourselves.

Respectfully submitted by The Sophomore Class.

Paul S. Elliott,
Committee Chairman.

WHAT HAPPENED

On December 3 President Pennington gave a report of some of the most important points under discussion during the Conference of Associated Colleges of Oregon, held in Salem.

It was made clear that although religion can not be taught in the public school, morality can and should be taught. The teaching of religion is the field of the denominational school and not that of the public institutions.

The so-called vocational and cultural subjects were discussed, concerning the advisability of giving college credit for the so-called vocational subjects. The different classification given by Dr. Foster was accepted as a better distinction. The vocational course should be called the immediately practical and the cultural the ultimately practical.

The plan of having a four-quarter college year was presented, but was not considered advisable for this section of the country.

Class rivalry was mentioned and spoken of favorably when it was carried on with close supervision of the students.

The remainder of the time, matters of interest brought up by the great war were under consideration. The great need of trained leaders after the war was made clear. The immense questions that must be settled after the mighty struggle were discussed, as well as the problems right now, as "The Status of the Enlisted Man," and the problem of keeping students in school to finish their course.

Y. W. C. A.

Wednesday, the twenty-first, the meeting was in charge of Mildred Benson. She had asked the girls, the week before, to prepare questions to be answered in the next meeting. These were handed out to the girls and then read and discussed. As they were on various subjects, the discussions proved very interesting and helpful.

Last Wednesday was Thanksgiving meeting. Mrs. W. E. Crozier led, basing her remarks on the third verse of the sixty-first chapter of Isaiah. She emphasized the points that Christ came to bring joy and happiness to the world and that no sorrow can come to the Christian.

AMONG OURSELVES

Miss Johnson spent the week end in Portland.

Miss Olive Johnson visited relatives in Portland Thanksgiving day.

Lloyd Edwards spent the Thanksgiving vacation at home in Tillamook.

Mary Pennington, very emphatically: "Who says I can't manage a boy?"

Christine Hollingsworth spent the vacation in Portland with Miss Lesta Cook.

The third-year "Prep" boys have donned new sweaters of old gold and navy blue.

Last Saturday evening Mary Pennington entertained all the "away-from-homes."

Lloyd Edwards attend County Sunday School Convention at Yamhill last Friday night, November 24.

Prof. Hull is sadly missed by the student body. They all wish for his speedy recovery and return to health.

If you don't get your Crescent see the circulation manager about it at once and the difficulty will be straightened out.

Ruth Mendenhall, P. A., '17, will leave Newberg Thursday morning for her future home at Bayview, Washington.

It is reported that "Topsy" Guyer is to be married Christmas day. "Topsy" is now in the employ of the government.

President Pennington spoke on "After the War, What," at the presidents' and faculties' conference held at Salem November 30.

Certainly the faculty wish the students to enjoy vacation with clear heads, by the generous round of quizzes handed out last week.

Miss Wright and Miss Sutton both have mascots. Miss Wright loves her dog, but Miss Sutton even shares costly butter with her mouse.

The Freshman male quartet and a Y. M. deputation team held the Sunday evening service in the Friends' church at Sherwood November 25.

Coach Lewis gave a talk to the men interested in basket ball November 28, and outlined the plans and rules for training in preparation for regular practice.

Since the Freshmen received an answer to their challenge, issued November 9, the old slogan, "Oh, what a liar," seems to be their only means of relief.

During the class games, Pluto Edwards suffered the loss of one tooth by violent contact with a perfectly good elbow, thereby rather spoiling his beauty.

There is an old saying, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder." The converse has been found to be true lately. For particulars see Mildred Benson.

The college board is now remodeling the old library room for girls' gym classes, and the girls themselves are now beginning to think in terms of flying arms and legs.

Word has been received from Cecil Hoskins, who is in California for his health, that he is feeling much better and that California does not begin to compare with Oregon.

Earl Pinney and Addison Kaufman, former college students, were home Saturday night and Sunday from Portland shipyards, where they have been working for some time.

Last Sunday afternoon a very interesting report was given of the American Friends Five Years Meeting held at Richmond, Indiana, in October. Several students "attended" the report.

Geo. Pettingill, ex-'19, who is in the medical corps of the regular army, was home from Camp Lewis Monday, November 26, visiting his parents and friends. He says he likes the work fine.

Miss Lesta Cook and Floyd Bates, both former students in College, were down from Salem November 26th visiting with friends. Miss Cook is teaching school at Rosedale and Mr. Bates is farming near there.

Lorena Keeney served a Thanksgiving dinner Thursday evening to Elizabeth Anderson, Paul Elliott and Lester Wright. Something mysterious must have happened after the dinner, for all further information has been withheld.

Oh, what fun and eats! Thursday evening Esther Terrell entertained a bunch of her friends with a taffy-pull. After becoming somewhat "stuck-up" the bunch played rook. Later the boys (with some help) prepared a very sumptuous lunch. The guests were: Margaret Hodson, Irene Hodgins, Cassius Carter, Ellis Beals and Harold Nichols.

Prof. Shambaugh might well be called an "apostle of sunshine" because of the way he radiated sunshine and good cheer in his recent chapel talk. He encouraged people to just smile when the tasks and burdens were the heaviest, and then to still smile as the load was lifted. "Ninety-five per cent of your trouble is imaginary."

President Pennington gave in chapel November 26 an address on "After the War, What?" The world war will by-and-by come to an end, and then will come a great reconstruction. This will be industrial, social, political and international, and will be the beginning of the perpetual reign of peace. All the reconstruction will be made on a juster and more righteous basis. But for all of these tremendous tasks the world will be faced with the greatest dearth of leaders that has ever been known, because the college and university men have all been sent to the front and many are dead.

TREFIAN

Autumn was the theme of the last Trefian program. From the first thing on the program to the closing number, the autumn atmosphere was present. Elizabeth Anderson gave Riley's "And I Ain't Et No Pie Since" in such a realistic way that the girls were all reminded of the time when they were small. With a few well chosen selections, Olive Johnson told what the poets have said about autumn. The girls then listened to a debate, "Resolved, That Autumn is Better Than Spring." Gladys Paulsen and Helen Hester upheld the affirmative, and Helen Scott and Mary Elliott the negative. By the unanimous decision of the judges it was decided that autumn is better than spring. The last number on the program was to have been a stunt, but on account of the absence of one or two of the members it was not given.

Rev. Stannard gave a very interesting talk on "How to Live a Successful Life." Some of the thoughts which he gave were: every one starts life expecting to be successful, but so many of us get the wrong ideals, or we fail to live up to our ideals, and do not reach the true standard of a successful life; to gain true success is to live a Christian life, to put ourselves in a position where God can use us; a successful Christian life means a life of continuous effort, but it also means a life of continuous victory; to know that Christ is in us is to know of victory over sin.

November 28 the meeting was thrown open and every one was given a chance to express his thanks. Several ringing Thanksgiving testimonials were given showing that a Christian has much for which to be thankful.

Miss Wright kindly let the students have some of the benefits of her extensive travels. Her description of the National Capitol was very interesting and gave stimulus to many senatorial hopes among "the future leaders of the world."
