COLD WEATHER DE-SCENDS ON CAMPUS

College Community Withstands Low Temperatures

Old Man Winter descended with a vengeance on Newberg last week and has had pretty much his own way since. However, Pacific has been putting up a valiant fight to defeat the old boy at his own game, and has succeeded to the best of all expectation. With the thermometer hovering about zero all the time, and in spite of cold and snow, school has been dismissed for only one afternoon, and that dismissal was only caused by the fact that there was no electric current by which the ventilating fan could operate. It has been cold in Wood-Mar Hall most of the time, but by wearing coats and sweaters the students have been able to keep warm enough to attend classes—and get back to the large register in the hall.

Many new and wonderful fashions have appeared with the snow. Stocking caps and mufflers of the most vivid hues have been much in evidence, and the shoes that some of the men wear are a positive menace to the safety of the community. However, service and comfort are the great ideas at present, and one can't blame the wearers.

The weather has been too keen to admit much sport in the snow, but sleigh rides have been indulged in to some extent. On Saturday the Frosh class crowded into a large sled and journeyed merrily to the home of one of the members north of town, where they warmed up for the return trip. The ride was reported a great deal of fun, as the party was packed too closely into the sled to allow anyone's getting chilly.

Sleighs have been utilized for other things than amusement also, as evidenced by the number of them that come up the college driveway each morning. It is a not uncommon sight to see some fond papa bringing his flock to school each morning behind the old family team. Yet, as before mentioned, service is the big idea.

REFERENDUM ASKED ON PEACE TREATY

Straw Vote of Students to Be Taken January 13

We, the undersigned have undertaken to promote a referendum of college sentiment of the country concerning the peace treaty. It is realized that many colleges have held straw ballots on this question but the statements of the question have in most instances differed and afforded no opportunity to obtain an accurate and comparative expression of the intercollegiate point of view and the plan is that on January 13th every college and university in the country will be asked to take a vote of its faculty on the one hand and its student body on the other, in which each member of the college community will be asked to declare himself "yes" or "no" on:

1. I favor the ratification of the League and the treaty without amendments or reservations.
2. I am opposed to the ratification of the League and treaty in any form.
3. I am in favor of ratification of the treaty and League but only with the specific reservations as voted by the majority of the Senate.
4. I favor any compromise on the reservations which will make possible immediate ratification of the treaty and the League.

The committee will forward detailed suggestions as to how the vote should be carried on. It is urged that between now and January 13th the utmost discussion of the situation should be stimulated in your institution. If possible speeches and mass meetings of the students and faculty at which the different points of view will be presented, should be held.

No propaganda whatever will be circulated by the committee and no point of view advocated.

Y. W. C. A. RAISES FUND FOR ROOM

Committees Earn Assessment in Original Ways

Y. W. C. A. girls are much interested in money-making these days. They are planning to furnish the Y. W. room as a cosy corner for the girls in school. In order to do this each committee in the Y. W. has been asked to contribute one dollar for each of its members and in return is granted the privilege of specifying the use to which its gift is to be put. All money is to be in by the second week in January.

The Music Committee was the first to make its efforts public. One Wednesday noon the main hall was crowded with those who had come to sell, to buy, to give, to take and to eat peanuts. The girls were satisfied with the pecuniary results and with the honor due them as the first contributors.

The Good Fellowship Committee took advantage of the cold weather of the past week by offering hot lunch for sale at noon Thursday and Friday. The impromptu restaurant was well patronized for it filled a real need. The Association News Committee appeared at the game Friday evening with paper caps in the college colors of both teams, hot chocolate, and pop corn.

Other committees doubtless have plans for the painless extraction of cash and will spring them later.

SHAKESPEARIAN PROGRAM AT GIRLS' LITERARY

Shakespearian costumes, plays, atmosphere and styles were the features of the Trefian Society's program for the last meeting.

The first number was a splendid synopsis of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," given by Flora Campbell, for the benefit of those who were not familiar with the theme of the play. It took up the introduction, characterization of the cast, and the plot of the story. It was well written and very well given, in a manner which showed Miss Campbell's clear grasp of her subject. It helped the audience to understand and appreciate the second

ACADEMY WINS; FRESHMEN LOSE

Pacific Victor in One Game of Mac Double-Header

Pacific Academy won from Mc-Minnville Academy the first of the two basket ball games played at the college gymnasium, Friday evening, by a score of 28 to 16. The second game, a Pacific vs. Mc-Minnville Freshmen struggle ended in a 7 to 13 victory for Mac.

The Academy teams took their places at 7:45 sharp and at the blow of referee Parker's whistle, rushed into the fray with all the "speed" and "pep" that any conference game ever began with. Both teams were unable to find themselves until Alfred Terrell dropped the ball in the basket from far out towards the west side-line for Pacific's first counter. From then on the local boys scored almost at will throughout the first half.

Mac came back strong the second half but at no time were they in danger of overcoming Pacific's lead. The prevailing cold snap cut down the speed of the game in the later half despite the fact that hot fires were kept going all day in the gym. Beeler was star man for the visitors, while Hinshaw, of Pacific, was high point "getter," with a total of eight field goals. The close guarding of Armstrong and Brooks Terrell coupled with the floor work of Horace Terrell accounts for Mac's low scoring.

The line-up follows:
Pacific—28      Mc-Minnville—16
A. Terrell, 8...F.....10, Beeler
C. Hinshaw, 4...F.....4, Vester
H. Terrell, 4...C.....Helsey
B. Terrell.....G.....Hoberg
Armstrong.....G.....2 'Gowan
Gregory substituted for B. Terrell.
Referee, Russell Parker.
Halves, 20 minutes.

While the Freshmen were warming up, the crowd surrounding the two heaters, bedecked with colored paper caps, showered with pop corn and drenched with hot chocolate, sold by the Y. W. C. A., made the air ring with songs and yells.

The second game was a decided change from the open, free style of the first. The tactics used by

IS THIS THE ANSWER?

Is there enough distinction made between the college and the academy departments of the school? This question has been raised several times this year by both the college and academy students. Both have started things which have been interfered with by the other and both are dissatisfied. At some time in the future we hope the enrollment will be large enough to warrant a more complete separation than is now possible while both departments are in the same building. At present might it not be more pleasant for all concerned to have certain academy activities, such as class demonstrations of pep, for the Preps alone and similar college activities for the college students only. We believe that this would be possible and still have a united feeling of loyalty and good will toward each other and the institution as a whole.

Pacific wants the best basket ball teams possible from the material she has, but what about the other men in school who have paid their athletic dues and yet have little opportunity to use the gymnasium because the regular squads take all the available time. Isn't this a democratic school? Surely the many as well as the few should be allowed to get their money's worth of fun and exercise.

This is the time of year when those aspiring to the positions of school orators get busy with their solutions for the great problems of the day. Pacific has never lacked

Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Albert Bean, the "Sky Pilot" of Alaska, came before the Y. M. C. A. on November 26, with a message full of pep and interest. In his talk he spoke of the Y. M. as a help or hindrance in the making of Christians by peddling false or true goods. During his talk Rev. Bean sang "That Bible My Mother Gave to Me," one of the many songs which he has written and sung in the far North of Alaska and the various states of America.

This man has gone about his work of leading men to the Master in such a whole hearted and earnest way that all classes of men are brought nearer to Christ and to an acceptance of the ideals of Jesus by knowing him.

On Wednesday morning the Y. M. C. A. was led by Professor Weesner. His talk was concerning a certain class of slackers who think that the job which they have undertaken can be done better by some one else when the facts of the case are that the individuals themselves can do the work just as satisfactorily.

With Hays at the borrowed Y. W. organ, accompanied by Gregory and Edwards with their violins, the music in the recent association gatherings has been very helpful and inspiring.

At the last meeting George Upton told a few things concerning the Y. M. C. A. Student Conference which was held at Seabeck, Washington, this last summer.

Eva Miles spent the week end, December 6-8, at her home in Salem, Oregon, during which interval she was privileged to hear Winifred Byrd, a very noted pianist who has been prominent in New York during the past year.

Six of the dormitory students set out at an early hour Saturday morning and hiked up Chehalem Mountain. The early morning air was incentive to vigor and every member of the party was apparently in a good humor. Several good snap shots were taken and appetites were somewhat sharpened, judging from the speedy disappearance of the lunch.

Nina C.—“Are you going to take dinner anywhere Sunday?”

Palmer H., eagerly—“No, not that I know of.”

Nina—“My, wont you be hungry by Monday morning though?”

In the last issue of the Crescent it was stated that $175 had been raised to help send Pacific's delegates to the Student Volunteer Convention at Des Moines. That was true but the amount was not given as large as it should have been for the committee has received pledges for more than $260.

The Dormitory Club entertained President John D. Mills and family at dinner Friday evening, after which a social hour was spent in the parlor. The three children, John Junior, Dorothy and Elizabeth, furnished a great deal of enjoyment to the dormitory young people.

Much rejoicing by the Student Body including the Faculty, no doubt, was manifested Wednesday afternoon, resulting from the dismissal of classes. The building was filled with smoke which did not escape through its accustomed channels because the electricity which operates the fan in the furnace was shut off.

Frances Elliott went to Salem for the week end, December 8, to visit at the home of her uncle, State Forester Elliott. She had the privilege of hearing Miss Winifred Byrd, pianist of note, while there.

Saturday afternoon Flora Campbell entertained a number of her Freshmen girl friends at her home in Sherwood. The following were present: Melba Saunders, Beth Paulsen, Pauline Terrell, Clara Calkins, Blanche Carlyle and Flora Campbell. Chocolate and wafers were served after some enjoyable frolicsome games.

Several boys were employed Wednesday afternoon in shoveling the snow from the roof of Wood-Mar Hall. They were rewarded for their hard labor by pelting the passers-by with snow balls and beholding their embarrassment.

Beth and Harold Paulsen were among the favored few, in comparison with the thousands who swarmed to Portland and were refused entrance, to hear the celebrated singer, Harry Lauder, Thursday evening, December 5.

Several academy students attended a “sugar off” party at the home of Martha Ehret Tuesday, December 9. The snow was fine and the “sugar off” was sticky but all returned very happily.

S. A. Mills, on his way to Alaska, where he expects to hunt and fish during the winter months, spent a few days with Dr. Hester's family and with his daughter, Anna, last week.

Helen Hester entertained a few of her friends playing “Parcheesa” and kindred amusements on Friday, December 5.

The above is a part of a telegram received last week. Mr. Lewis has charge of the proposition and is making some arrangements to present the question at two or more chapel periods. It is hoped that the students will give this question the serious consideration it deserves in order that they may be able to vote intelligently.

CHAPEL

Monday, December 1, was the first chapel exercises after Thanksgiving vacation. Doctor Hester spoke to the students on the timely subject of good health. According to Dr. Hester, the most important essential in keeping one's good health is being careful about little things such as going out in the rain without rubbers and unnecessary exposure to cold. The “Do” and “Don't” laws of health which he named especially for students were both timely and practical.

Elder Sanger, from the Church of the Brethren, was a visitor at P. C. on Tuesday, December 2. He urged the students to realize that the future of the nation and church rests in their hands and that opportunity is always followed by responsibility.

Monday, December 8, Miss Wright spoke on the “Industrial and Economic Changes in China.” Two interesting facts she brought out were the construction of dikes and the observance of Arbor Day in China. Dikes are built for prevention against floods which have brought famine and great suffering to China in the past. The observance of Arbor Day has been only recently established because of the absence of forests in China and the great demand for lumber. Agricultural colleges are being established in China and modern methods of farming taught. Electric lights and electrical devices are coming into common use.

Mr. Murton, manager of the Miller Mercantile Co. of this city, gave an interesting address to the students on Tuesday, December 7. The points he emphasized were the great possibilities for the college student and the advantages received from a college education.

both teams were more befitting a foot ball gridiron than a basket ball floor. Guarding was close on both sides, keeping the score low and making the game seem slow. Mac's size and weight proved an advantage which the lighter team was not able to overcome. Over of McMinnville, secured nine of the thirteen points gained by his team.

number, which was the dramatization of two scenes of this play.

Parts were taken by Miss Wright, as the beautiful and much sought heroine, Daisy Leffler as the misunderstood and rejected suitor, Clara Calkins, Harriet Hodgkin and Eva Miles, as very dashing gentlemen about the court, and Dora Dunbar as the petite and "fetching" maid.

The characters were dressed in very good imitation of the "Beau Brummels" of the Shakespearian age and were "fearful and wonderful to behold" in their knee breeches, high ruffs and be-plumed hats.

The scenes given were full of humor and laughable moments, the kind of scenes that keep an audience chuckling continuously. The cast all filled their parts exceptionally well and threw themselves into their parts with much enthusiasm. Special mention is due Daisee Leffler for her clever presentation of the fool of the scenes, Malvolio.

The last number was a very sentimental serenade of olden times, sung by Eva Miles as a cavalier of the sixteenth century. She carried a bouquet made up of dead Shasta daisy tops beautifully surrounded by bug-eaten kale leaves which gave atmosphere to the song.

and flivvers are rather out of their element in this weather.

The new furnace in the boys' dorm seems to be quite successful in keeping the inmates warm, and the customary walls that usually come from that quarter at the advent of cold weather are in a great measure lacking, for which everyone is duly grateful. Frozen water pipes have not been as troublesome as might have been expected, although Professor Perisho has had to spend some few enjoyable hours in thawing out some pipes in the laboratories. All lab classes have proceeded as usual, and the Physical Geography class improved its opportunity last Wednesday by studying snowflakes through the microscope.

Miss Lewis has been the only faculty member unable to meet all her classes, but she was able to get in on Monday and hopes to continue uninterrupted henceforth.

Taken altogether, Pacific has triumphed very nobly over the cold spell, and the progress of learning has not been interrupted to any great extent. How long the cold wave will last is a question, but with the old spirit of wading through obstacles in evidence, it ought not to trouble the school seriously.

Byron Kenworthy made an important business trip to Portland Wednesday evening, December 8.
