ARTISTS COMING ON LYCEUM PROGRAM

Course Offers the Finest in Lecture,
Music, and Sleight-of-Hand

The Pacific College Lyceum Course for 1924-25 promises to be the most delightful, as it is the most expensive, course ever put on in the city of Newberg.

The course will consist of two artists' concerts by companies on the regular Lyceum circuit, one concert by the Pacific College School of Music, two especially high grade lectures, and an entertainment by one of the best magicians on the Lyceum platform.

The course will open on the evening of Thursday, October 30, with the Moscow Artists, four musicians who present a delightful and varied program from the works of Rimsky-Korsakoff, Tchaikowsky, Rachmaninoff, and other great Russian composers as well as from the best musicians of other countries. The party consists of Yasha Garoy, noted Russian tenor and composer; Miss Olga Durevska, soprano; Miss Vaniea Skolska, violinist; and Ivan Karoff, baritone. In addition to the classical numbers there will be a very interesting program of folk songs never before heard in America. Part of the program of these artists will be given in Russian costumes.

The second number of the course, Friday, December 5, will be the lecture on "The Coming Renaissance in Europe," by Tom Skeyhill. Roosevelt said of Skeyhill, "I would rather be on the platform with him than any man I know." The New York Globe declared him to be the most inspiring speaker who ever appeared at the Metropolitan Opera House.

The third number, Tuesday, January 20, will be a lecture by Dr. Thomas Curtin, a famous war correspondent who saw fighting in 18 battle fields and whose lecture will be not only tremendously informing but delightfully entertaining.

The number that will be looked forward to with greatest interest by the music lovers of Newberg and vicinity will come Thursday evening, January 29, the concert by the Fenwick Newell Concert Company. This is the company that opened the course last year. It is probable that no individual vocalist in the past decade has so delighted a Newberg audience as did Fenwick Newell. With him are associated Margaret Holt, an exceptionally good soprano; Rosamond Crawford, a pianist of more than usual ability; and Joseph Marks, a young violinist who pleased his audience mightily.

James Kater, magician and entertainer, comes Friday evening, February 13. (Friday the 13th for a magician. Can you beat it?) Mr. Kater not only amuses, mystifies and entertains his audience but he seeks to instruct as well. After watching his card tricks a man must be simple indeed who does not realize how completely he is at the mercy of a

FOOTBALL PROSPECTS LOOK BRIGHT FOR COMING SEASON

Nine Letter Men Are Back to Set the Pace

With nine letter men back, Pacific looks forward to a very prosperous football season this year. For a week and a half the "huskies" have been throwing, kicking and catching the pigskin and doing other things that are essential to football. Under Coach Michener's guidance the men are improving in form very rapidly and it looks as though we will be in very good condition for our first game. The turn out is much better this year than what we have had heretofore. Two teams are out practically every evening, with the result that we have good scrimmages.

H. A.

CAN A DUCK SWIM?

The other day someone asked: "Does the Pacific College football team have a good chance of winning conference honors this year?" And from all appearances he was quite in earnest. But one of two things was wrong with him. Either he was trying to ask some such foolish question as "Can a duck swim?" or else he knew nothing about our present football squad. For no such question would arise in the mind of anyone who has seen the number of men out for practice and felt their spirit and biceps.

Street, Hester, Nurdyke, Winslow, Armstrong, Lienard and E. Everest, all letter men of last year, are among those on the field. Also A. Everest and Sanders, letter men of last year, expect to be in school before the end of the week.

But the most encouraging fact is that there are plenty of "new" men who are making it decidedly difficult for any letter man to "salt down" an old position on the team.

Professor Roberts is assisting with the coaching and a few games will be arranged for the second team.

FACULTY FUN

Saturday evening, September 13, was a time of much merriment for the Pacific College faculty members and their families. They met at Lafayette locks for a "get-acquainted" picnic before college opened. Five new members were welcomed into the faculty group. Mr. and Mrs. Holding with their family also helped to make merry. Many sports were enjoyed, swimming, jumping, indoor baseball and football were among the most strenuous. Some of the members did not realize until the next day just how much out of practice they had been.

The faculty family appeared to have grown somewhat when fifty people sat down to partake of the bountiful lunch. If anyone is interested in knowing how good the cakes were, he might ask Mr. Hull. The hope was expressed that this might be just the first of many pleasant times together this year.

NOTED ENGLISH FRIEND SPEAKS AT FIRST CHAPEL

Beautiful Living Is Theme of Talk
by J. W. Harvey Theobald

Perhaps the first real enjoyable session of school is that one in which the students and faculty get together in the chapel and see who's who. The first meeting was of special interest for various reasons.

In the first place we were favored by having with us the heads of our music department. Mrs. Hull gave three very fine instrumental solos and Professor Hull, after a short but interesting appreciation of music, gave two vocal selections.

Another interesting feature of the chapel exercise was the introduction of the faculty members by President Pennington. Miss Dungan, Miss Dilla Tucker, Professor Roberts and Professor McClean were newly initiated into this yearly performance.

One opportunity which rarely comes and which was enjoyed at this time, was that of hearing J. W. Harvey Theobald, a noted English Friend, who spoke to us of how to make life beautiful. We were left with the impression that one of the things that has made life anything but beautiful is the way in which jazz has corrupted music, art, speech, dress and religion, and caused men and women to be lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God.

O. T.

In her chapel talk on Thursday, September 25, Miss Lewis enumerated the following several points concerning the use of the college library:

The library is primarily a place of study, and should be kept as quiet as possible at all times.

To find a book consult the card catalogue; nearly every book has two cards—one for the title and one for the author. If you are not able to find the book you desire, ask the person at the librarian's desk to help you.

The stock room is not intended for a work room; when you have found the book you want, take it out to the reading room to read it.

Books to be taken from the library must be signed out by the librarian or her assistant; do not attempt to sign out a book for yourself.

Books from the library may be kept for two weeks, and may be renewed usually for an additional period of one week.

Books placed on the reserve shelf and the current numbers of magazines cannot be taken from the library except between 5 p. m. and 8:15 a. m.

When you return a book or magazine, do not attempt to put it away in its place in the stock room or on the shelves, but leave it on the librarian's desk. The librarian knows the exact place for the book or magazine, and can thus avoid a possible confusion.

The "Do's and Don't's" of conduct in the college library are not necessary if you "put yourself in his place."

ANNUAL Y. M.--Y. W. RECEPTION FRIDAY

Novel Partner-Pairing Proves to Be
Feature of the Evening

The annual Y. M. and Y. W. reception held on Friday evening was certainly crowned with success, for which much credit is due the two social committees. One never saw a group of college and academy students more eager to use pencil and paper than they were that night, when everyone wanted the name of everyone else. No news has been received of just how many fingers were put out of place or how many joints have swelled since the grand handshake in the basement hallway.

Much merriment and laughter was the result in the various groups as they were assigned to different rooms and played such games as ickey-doodle-doo, and hot potatoes.

Who would have thought of such a novel way of getting partners as the social committee worked out. Each girl wrote on a slip of paper the name of some animal, the call of which she would recognize, and also placed in the corner a mark of identification. Perhaps the forlorn look on one gentleman's face, as he tried to find a young lady who wished for a man, will not be forgotten. Turkeys, donkeys, guineas, coo-coos, cats, cows, bob-whites and all manner of queer sounding animals could be heard in that menagerie.

As the refreshments were being served, some of the jolly juniors led the group in singing "Ice cream tastes fine tonight," and "Waiters look fine tonight." An excellent program was given at this time. Olive Armstrong, the Y. W. president, and Harlan Rinard, the Y. M. president, each gave a few words of welcome, after which President Pennington spoke his appreciation of the way in which students were taking hold, and the possibilities wrapped up in each individual.

After the singing of the college song the crowd dispersed and echoes of the good time are still ringing through the air.

WILL YOU ACCEPT THE CHALLENGE?

Let us each be a booster this year. "Booster for what," you ask? It seems a big task to answer, "for everything connected with Pacific." But that is what we need and it is not impossible. What an enviable year this would be if the work that has to be done could be evenly divided among us. The great danger is that we become accustomed to calling on the same people for everything, but let us aim this year to develop new talent and new ability. Of course it is impossible for one person to undertake heavy responsibility in every organization on the campus, but that is the advantage of using the word boost. We can each aid in the spirit of co-operation if we cannot aid otherwise. That is the way in which the women of the school can help in the men's athletic association, or the men in the Y. W. C. A., and so on around. The work before us seems hard and perhaps grinding, but the future comes only one day at a time, so let us not be blinded by the size of the work as a whole. Do your part to help the Student Body, the Crescent, the Christian Associations, the Athletic Associations, the Literary Societies and other organizations, and no one can ask more of you.

TREFIAN ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

Treflan society met for the first time this year in the dormitory parlors, Wednesday afternoon. Officers for this semester were elected as follows:

Mildred Tucker, president; Leela Pearson, vice president and chairman program committee; Fleeta Leland, secretary; Mildred Choate, treasurer; Olive Armstrong, critic; Ruth Whitlock, Crescent reporter; Ethelyn Root, marshal; Miss Lewis, faculty advisor; Hilma Hendrickson, chairman social committee.

Although there are not many old members left, we are hoping that with the addition of new members Treflan will prove, as it has in the past, truly worth while.

The Earlham Press reports the largest enrollment this year in the history of the college; 533 students are already enrolled of whom 199 are freshmen and 11 are graduate students.

Don't fail to read the editorial. It applies to you, too, you know.

Y. W. C. A.

The first Y. W. meeting of the year was well attended and was a very helpful and inspirational service. The scripture reading of the first chapter of Joshua was followed by an interesting and helpful talk by the president, in which she urged us to "be strong and of good courage" as we start on our work of a new year. A special song by a quartet added much to the spirit of the meeting.

By the way the Y. W. meetings have started out we are sure that they are going to play an important part in the school life this year and those girls who do not make the most of their opportunity to attend the services and do all they can to help out are going to miss some of the best things P. C. has in store for them.

This last Wednesday morning, the Y. W. C. A. was led by Miss Lewis, chairman if the advisory board. The lesson was read from Matthew 6:33, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." Miss Lewis told of the things to invest in Y. W. C. A. to get the most out of it. Time, thought of the work of the association, a personal interest in the Y. W. as your own, and prayer. All have a responsibility as members to make the Y. W. C. A. the best it has ever been.

WARM RECEPTION TENDERED NEW MEN

The new men of Pacific were the recipients of a warm reception at the hands of the "old" men of the institution at the annual Y. M. Stag Mix held on Thursday night, September 18, on the college athletic field.

The age old games of "hot hand," "double hot-hand," "strong man" and "ring wrestle" were much in evidence and enjoyed immensely by all—or nearly all. Another game, a simple game in which a wet leather strap figures very prominently, afforded a large measure of satisfaction to certain ones of the company; if you are not familiar with this game, dear reader, question President Pennington, he understands it perfectly.

After the proverbial "dog" was devoured, introductions around the fire were in order and the dark past of some of our otherwise unquestionable men was uncovered. When these were finished "Prexy" told his annual fish story and the entire company closed the evening's festivities with the college song.

GIRLS GET ACQUAINTED IN FROLIC

The frolic which the Y. W. C. A. gives annually in honor of the new girls in school occurred Tuesday afternoon in Room 14. In order that everyone might first get acquainted two lines were formed, one of new girls and one of old girls. Then the ingenuity of each one was taxed, when, after being introduced to the girl opposite her, she was requested to guess the class of which she was a member. Some displayed real ability in guessing, but others found it necessary to deliberate before being able to name correctly the class to which her partner belonged.

After each one had been thus introduced the group was divided into two parts for playing games. "Simon says thumbs up" proved to be very interesting, not only as a thumb exercise but also as an aid in training the mind to be alert. "Fruit basket," apparently caused much confusion, while in "cat and mouse" one's physical endurance was severely tested and the wild antics exhibited there were nicely performed.

The academy girls then went upstairs, the college girls remaining in the hall below. A fish line was dropped from upstairs, with which each "little sister" fished for her "big sister." Having caught her, she went with her catch into Room 14 where more fun was awaiting. Each pair was asked to prepare as long a list as possible of slang words. While grapes, pears, and apples were being passed our shock-absorbers were put to work as the longest list of slang words was read. Soon all departed with a strong feeling of friendliness for each other.

Vice President Floyd Lienard
Secretary Edith Fort
Treasurer Carl Crane

ABOUT THE CAMPUS AND ELSEWHERE

We miss several from our number this year who are going to other colleges and universities: John Chen-evert and Florence Heater to the University of Oregon; Emma Fort, Clifton Parrett, and Herbert Owen to Linfield college; Elsie Allen to Oregon Normal; Delight Carter to the University of Washington; Royal Gettmann to Earlham; Zelle Justus to the College of Idaho; and Edna Christie to Walla Walla.

All the students are glad to welcome Miss Dilla Tucker back with us again. Miss Tucker is teaching Academy Bible and cooking; she is also matron of the girls' dormitory.

P. C. has three new teachers besides Mr. Macy, who is back in the history department, and Miss Tucker. Mr. Clarence G. McClean, a missionary of Cuba, is teaching Spanish, Bible and some history. Miss Ella M. Dungan is the head of the psychology and education department. Mr. Frank D. Roberts, from Greenleaf Seminary is principal and teacher of mathematics and physics in the Academy.

Miss Lewis is now our librarian as well as registrar, and head of the foreign language department. Miss Mary Elliott is assisting in the library work.

Paul Brown, a junior in college, is physical instructor for the boys this year. Miss Dungan is physical instructor for the girls.

We are glad to have back among us Walter Cook, Mildred Tucker, Hulda and Marian Winslow, who were not at P. C. last semester.

Louise Nelson and Helen Robertson are both working in offices as stenographers this year.

George Foott reports that the pre-medical department of the navy, which he joined after last school year, is much like being in school.

The dormitory family is rather small this year, there being nine boys and ten girls. The boys living in their dormitory are Walter Cook, governor; Harlan Rinard, Edgar Street, Eugene Hibbs, Charles Beals, Albert Windell, Robert Smith, Seth Oliver Terrell, and Milton Wells.

Miss Della Pearson, a sister of Leela Pearson, was a visitor at the dormitory, Sunday, September 21.

Pacific College was well represented at the reception for the new Friends pastor and family, and the new teachers, Friday evening, September 19.

Florence Lee went down to Portland last Friday morning in company with her brother, Harold N. Lee, who was on his way to Harvard university where he will work on his Ph.D. this coming year.

The Y. W. rejoices in the unprecedented fact that every member of the cabinet returned this year, so that they were able to commence work without any delay.

The Crescent also has an unusual record in having all four of its officers here to begin work, and though one of them felt it necessary to resign it is hoped that the work will continue with out a serious interruption.

A Student Body meeting was held after school last Friday afternoon to elect a forensic manager in place of Robert Shattuck, who could not be back this year, and to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Wilbur Elliott from the office of circulation manager of the Crescent. Walter Cook was elected forensic manager, and Eldon Everett circulation manager.

The Crescent staff held their first luncheon Friday noon in the domestic science room with most of the members present. Plans for the coming year were discussed and the staff has hopes for the best year possible. These luncheons will be held regularly the Thursday noon before each issue is published, and thus it is hoped that a splendid organization may be maintained.

Mr. Theodore Cramlett who has been physical instructor at Pacific for the past two years has accepted a position as instructor at the University of Oregon where he expects to work toward his master's degree.

We are proud of our Idaho representation. May they continue to be as loyal to Pacific as they have always been.

In the southeast corner of the library has been placed a table for the exchange publications. The papers there are for the use of everyone. All that is asked is that you be thoughtful in handling them and return them to the table when you finish reading them.

Further details have been requested in regard to the fishing trip that some of the faculty men took this last week. Veiled insinuations have been heard that they visited a fish store on their way home. Let's have the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth. For information see any of the following: President Pennington, Mr. Michener, Mr. Holding, or Mr. McClean.

We regret to hear of so much sickness among the students recently. Marie Hester has headed the list ever since college opened.

Bill Sanders, one of our last year commercial students, and football star, has come back and registered for freshman work.

Y. M. C. A.

The talk on "The Y. M. C. A. College Men" by Professor F. W. Persho brought nearly all the Academy and College men out for the opening meeting Thursday morning, September 18. He emphasized the importance of each fellow joining such an organization which holds such high ideals. A christian college is not merely a place for entertainment and social affairs, or of well equipped gymnasiums and reading rooms nor even a place for large Bible study groups. Its principle business is to bring some friend or brother to see Jesus Christ.

On September 24 Rev. Holding of the Friends church spoke on the topic "The Call of the Church to Young Men." He said that the call of the church depends on what the world wants and needs; that the sentiments which the church instills in the boys are the sentiments which will follow them through life.

He emphasized the fact that the great question which is facing the young man today is not one of making money. "The question," said Rev. Holding, "is where can I make the greatest contribution to humanity. Students are living epistles, read of all men. What will the world read in your life?" Then he told how the Bible is the source of all great ideals, and how the world is calling for young men of vision and high ideals. In closing he said that the call of the world is the call of the needs of humanity.

PAST AND PRESENT

Gladys Scott '23 is in Richmond, Indiana, where she is employed in the office of the American Friend.

Brooks Terrell, formerly of the class of '25, has returned to Earlham, where he intends to graduate this year.

Flora Campbell '23 is taking work at the University of Oregon. She has consented to be a Crescent correspondent and will welcome any alumni and old student news.

Helen Hester '24 is attending the Friends university at Wichita, Kan., this year.

Pauline Terrell, formerly of the class of '23 and Horace Terrell, formerly of '25, are teaching this year at Central Point, Oregon.

Howard Nottage, '24, has become globe-trotter. He left Newberg the latter part of August and plans to see a good deal of the world before he comes back.

Harriett Hodgkin '23 left Saturday for Palo Alto where she will attend Stanford University this coming year.

Davis Woodward, a former member of the class of '24, is teaching this year in Caldwell, Kansas.

Miss Ruth Lee commenced her work among the Makah Indians of Neah Bay, Washington, early in September. She writes of many interesting experiences she has already encountered.

Fay Scott, who will be remembered by many of the older students, was visiting in Newberg just after college opened.

Eva Miles '24, who has visited in England during the summer, is studying in Germany and France this winter.

CHAPEL NOTES

Rev. Holding, pastor of the Newberg Friends church, spoke to the chapel audience on Friday, September 26, taking his topic from the first words of the parable of the sower: "Behold a sower went forth to sow," from which he drew a lesson of the significance of "The Sowing of the Seeds of Thought."

To illustrate this significance, he traced the germination of seeds of thought in the minds of some of the world's greatest geniuses; telling how the little peasant girl, Jeanne d'Arc, was moved by the sight of invading soldiers in her beloved France, to become a liberator of her people; how the little lad whose fingers were eager to supplant those of his father on the harpsicord, was inspired by the words: "Never mind, my son, continue to love thy music and some day thou wilt be a great musician," to become the magnificent Mozart; and how the boy who drew pictures with charcoal on the white kitchen wall and then erased them, grew from the words of his grandmother: "My son, do not draw to erase, but draw for eternity," to be the great French artist and creator of "The Angelus," Millet.

And from these illustrations, Rev. Holding sought to point out that the seed of thought planted in the mind of an humble child in an humble atmosphere, oft grows into the realization of an invaluable service to the world and mankind.

The date has not yet been fixed for the concert to be given by the Pacific College School of Music. Whenever that date comes we shall expect that again there will be the largest sale of single admissions during the course. ATHENA GET-TOGETHER

Three cheers for Mrs. Michener! She is the Athena advisor and right on the job. To start the year right she called a meeting of the Athena members, and some prospective members at her home Monday, September 15, where they all had a jolly good time together. What did they do? Oh, just lots of things, met some noted Japanese ladies, and heard about the strange land of Japan from one of them, worked puzzles, sat on the floor (Japanese style you know) told conundrums, and visited, and "other strange things too." Eats? Most assuredly. Just ask the girls. O. K.

The girls of the dormitory gathered together in the matron's room one evening and endeavored to do something which would cheer up the gloomy hours of their former matron, Miss Rena Johnson, who has been in the hospital at Portland since August 18. If she gets as much enjoyment in reading those letters from those girls who are perfect strangers to her, and those who were formerly entrusted to her care, as they did when they read them over, she surely ought to recover.

DON'T LAUGH

Rural Sarcasm

An easterner, visiting a Middle West town was talking to a prominent citizen with reference to the one paper the town boasted. "Well," observed the citizen, "I'll say for the editor that he can be the most sarcastic fellow that ever was when he tries."
"How so?"
"Well, in last week's issue the department entitled 'Local Intelligence' was only about three inches in length."

Nightmare Land

She (in art gallery)—"So that is one of those cubist paintings. What a dreadful place Cuba must be!"

Raising the Amount

Scandalized Judge—"Silence! I fine you five dollars for contempt of court."
Enraged Attorney (planking down $20 bill)—"Five dollars doesn't begin to express my contempt for this court!"

Safe Vocation

First Student—"What are you going to do for a living?"
Second Student—"Write."
First—"Write what?"
Second—"Home."

Too Bad!

Miss Dungan tells us that the stone for the Freshmen is the emerald; for the Soph, the Blarney stone; for the Junior, the grindstone; and for the Senior, the tombstone. We never thought it was that bad.

Miss Dungan (in psychology class)—"This brain came from the insane asylum at Salem."
Zella Straw—"Then our brains don't look like that, do they?"
Miss Dungan—"Oh yes, there isn't much difference."

(While eating watermelons at the dormitory.) Seth Oliver—"Well, the girls are using forks and the boys spoons."

Walter Cook—"That's right."
Seth Oliver—"That shows the girls are after style and the boys after the watermelon."
