LOCAL CHURCH HOST OF JOINT RECEPTION

Friends Church Greets New Pastor and New Students Jointly

A joint reception for the new pastor, Rev. Gervas A. Carey, and his family and the new students of Pacific College and Academy was held at the Friends church Tuesday evening, Oct. 4.

The program opened with a short talk by Mr. D. W. Michener. Rev. Wolford A. Dawes, pastor of the Baptist church, then welcomed the new pastor on behalf of the Ministerial Association, and Rev. Carey responded to the welcome. Following this a musical program, given in costume, consisting of a vocal solo, "Loch Lomond," by Mrs. Esther Haworth Woodward; a duet, "Juanita," by Prof. R. W. Lewis and Miss Eva Miles; solo, "Annie Laurie," by Homer Hester; solo, "Love's Old Sweet Song," by Mrs. Frank Colcord; "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny" and "Kentucky Babe" by the Faculty male quartet, composed of C. L. Conover, first tenor; D. W. Michener, second tenor; R. W. Lewis, first bass; L. T. Pennington, second bass, was given.

The program was followed by an informal reception, after which brick ice cream and cake was served by ladies in colonial garb.

The social committee of the Friends church, of which D. W. Michener is chairman, are to be congratulated upon the success of the evening.

FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE MIX

The annual initiation of college freshmen by the sophomore class proved to be a most lively affair, Friday night, October 7, at the college. The frosh, all gaudily arrayed in their old clothes, were ably guided through the "green-witch" mill, which included various strenuous games, such as "rolling the moth balls," a game which tested the accuracy of the froshes' noses. Following the preliminary games the "rookies" were escorted one at a time through the tortures of "Toobad," the soph with the artist's brush, who bedecked them with pretty colors of various hues. The party ended with an elaborate "hand-out" of refreshments, consisting of fruit salads, sandwiches, cocoa, and cake, followed by a rousing cheer from the yearling group.

GOLD "P" CLUB MEETS

The first meeting of the Gold "P" club was held at the college Thursday, October 6, for the purpose of deciding some important matters of discipline. By an unanimous decision of the club members, a decision was reached to the effect that the club would enforce all college traditions, beginning Monday, October 10. This will include all students of the school, as there are no exceptions to the rule.

For the benefit of the students, handbooks are compiled each year by the Y. M. C. A. in which all the traditions are named.

Should any Gold "P" club member disobey the traditions, he too shall receive equal punishment and lose the force of his letter for six weeks.

IN MEMORIAM

Seth Oliver Terrell, former Pacific Academy student and a graduate of 1926, passed away after a long illness at his home in Portland Saturday night, October 1, at 8 o'clock.

Seth was very active in academy affairs as well as in athletics. He was taken sick in the spring of 1926 and had to leave school, but returned later and was awarded his diploma.

Seth was a Christian of the highest type, and had the call to preach. He was true to God until the last. He told his nurse not long before his death, "If He spares me, I'm going to preach."

Seth Oliver Terrell has been an inspiration to all who knew him. He lived his whole life for Christ, and in doing so he has preached as great a sermon as anyone could.

In loving memory of Seth Oliver Terrell, and with deep sympathy for his parents, we respectfully dedicate this issue of the Crescent.

Y. W. HOLDS ANNUAL RECEPTION

The college was the scene of a lively frolic Wednesday afternoon after school when the Y. W. C. A. held their annual big and little sister "get-together." A large per cent of both the college and academy girls were present. A number of interesting and jolly games were introduced and entered into with a spirit which showed that everyone was anxious to get better acquainted with everyone else present. Interest was at a high pitch due to the fact that every girl was wondering just who her big or little sister was to be. A slip of paper was passed to each girl upon which was written her name and part of a familiar saying. This slip when matched with that of her big or little sister completed the saying. Light refreshments were served and the frolic closed with the singing of the college song.—M. C.

COMMUNITY FAIR COMING

The Woman's Auxiliary to Pacific College is busy completing plans for their community fair which is to occur early in December. The Legion Hall has been secured for the event, which will give ample room for a program more extensive than that of last year. The main feature of the fair will be the exhibits, for which booths will be provided. Meals will be served in connection with the fair, and delightful programs will be given daily.

As the result of Auxiliary activities during the past year, over $1,000 has been raised and turned into the support of the college. At various times the women have given many services to the school in addition to their financial contributions. Extensive improvements have been made by the Auxiliary to the dormitory equipment, the most important being the purchase of a new hotel range for the kitchen, the reflooring of the kitchen and the provision of new linoleum.

Y. M. AND Y. W. GIVE RECEPTION

The Y. M. and Y. W. reception for new students held in Wood-Mar Hall on the evening of September 22, proved to be a most delightful affair with which to open the social calendar of the year. The spacious lower hall of the building was both attractive and inviting to guests, with its decorations of gold and blue crepe paper and wicker furniture. A pleasing touch was added by several immense bouquets of sunset dahlias. The committee in charge soon accomplished its purpose—that of making all newcomers feel that they were really friends of everyone present. Games in which both faculty and students participated, soon erased all feeling of strangeness.

The main feature of the evening's entertainment was the program presented in the chapel:

Readings, Miss Della Hanville, Miss Elva Votaw.

Violin solo, Miss Beryl Hale.

Vocal solos, Miss Lolita Hinshaw, Homer Hester.

Addresses, Miss Lolita Hinshaw, president Y. W. C. A., Arthur Winters, president Y. M. C. A.

The program was followed by a grand march in which everyone participated to get partners for refreshments. Punch and wafers were served, while choruses of lively songs arose from different sections in competition. The singing of Alma Mater closed a thoroughly enjoyable evening, the credit of which is to be given to the social committees of both Y. M. and Y. W.

The faculty male quartet, composed of Chas. L. Conover, first tenor; D. W. Michener, second tenor; R. W. Lewis, first bass; and President L. T. Pennington, second bass, sang two numbers at the reception for Gervas A. Carey, the new Friends pastor, and his family and the new students and teachers of the college at the Friends church last Tuesday evening.

TALENTED PIANIST ENTERTAINS CROWD

Walter Mueller Plays Difficult Selections in Piano Recital

(By Alexander Hull)

There was a splendid crowd at Wood-Mar hall on Tuesday evening, Sept. 27, for the piano recital of Walter Mueller, son of the Rev. John C. Mueller of this city. Mr. Mueller is a graduate of the Whitman Conservatory of Music at Walla Walla, Wash., and has but lately returned to this country after four years of study in Germany, where he finished the course in the Leipzig Conservatory, and did post graduate work with Prof. Teichmueller. Mr. Mueller has gained many friends and admirers in his short stay in Newberg, as was evidenced at his recital Tuesday evening.

Though young in years, Mr. Mueller is a pianist of quite definite accomplishments. He has been trained in the modern manner, and his playing is dynamic and forceful, in the dramatic and heroic style rather than the lyric. Mr. Mueller is a serious pianist, and one with high ideals. These were shown in his program, which made no concessions to so-called "popular taste," but began with Bach and a Beethoven sonata and closed with a modern Russian sonata by Medtner bristling with difficulties, and included Brahms, Chopin and Niemann between the extremes. This was, indeed, a formidable program to play before a general audience. But Mr. Mueller convinced them. He was compelled to respond to recalls, and two encores.

The Mountain Idyll, by Niemann, a contemporary German composer, was an especially interesting contribution to the program, because the number is intrinsically good, well developed thematically, and yet of the impressionistic, modern manner. French and Russian influences just flavor Niemann's own very original genius; his name is a big one in modern music. Niemann is a personal friend of Mr. Mueller, and the Mountain Idyll copy of Mr. Mueller is annotated with the composer's direction for playing. For the other high-lights of the program, I would pick the Beethoven sonata, Op. 90, the tremendous Bach-Bosoni arrangement of the Chaconne and several of the immortal Chopin preludes, so beautiful and so seldom played by concert pianists.

This was music of a type that Newberg usually has to leave home to hear. Musically and as a personal tribute to the pianist the recital was a success. Mr. Mueller, who leaves this week for recitals in Walla Walla and Spokane—in which latter city he will take up work as organist and teacher—has many friends in Newberg who predict a big musical future for him.

WEESNER CHAIRMAN AGAIN

Professor Oliver Weesner is serving his second year as chairman of the Evangelistic and Church Extension Board of Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends. He is also Yearly Meeting treasurer as well as treasurer of the college.

ADVANTAGES OF THE SMALL COLLEGE

American parents will select small colleges near their homes for their children if they follow the advice of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, noted educator and health authority.

The great universities with present-day enrollments of 5,000 to 25,000 are like factories, turning out graduates supplied with specified facts on certain subjects, but they lack the advantages of intimate contacts between teacher and students and the congenial community life which develops character and fosters culture, he declares, writing in Good Housekeeping for September.

"There is also a social threat which is more dangerous in huge crowds than in small companies," he says. "It is the danger of bolshevism and atheism. It is an easy matter in these crowded educational centers to couple up disbelief in God with disbelief in government.

"One dollar expended at Hanover, a small college in Indiana, gives as much culture as five at Harvard. As a graduate of both institutions I can truly make this statement.

Students Lose Individuality

"The real specific benefit of the small college lies in the fact that its students are individuals. They know their professors. They are not simply a number in a huge herd, without recognition or individuality.

"In a commencement in which from one to two thousand graduates receive their diplomas, as is the case in many of our large universities, there is no individuality. There may be a few who have graduated with honors, but most of them rise, and, without even answering to their names, are given the degree of Bachelor of Arts, or whatever other degree they may receive.

"The whole benefit of personal contact with the professor, the advantage of his personal and sympathetic attention and his interest in each individual character as it is unfolded before him during the years of the association, are all lacking in this mass instruction.

"The safety of the future, the purity of learning and the efficiency of teaching are all intimately bound up with the small educational unit," his Good Housekeeping article concludes.

To us students of long-standing it is indeed a much cherished pleasure to have the privilege of extending a most sincere welcome to all those who have come into our midst this year the first time—WELCOME! Here are the keys to the Institution: Christian fellowship, and whole-hearted cooperation for the betterment of individual and institution. Our hands are eagerly extended in an offer of ready helpfulness.

We are overjoyed with this splendid in-surge of new personalities. In the past great endeavors have been realized through the impetus of fresh inspiration, and in the near future history shall repeat itself. You bring the untried ideas for which we are seeking; yours are the talents for which we have longed; the virgin aspirations which you hold will replace ours to which time has not been too kind. In short, you are the answer to an old student's prayer—new students with new vigor. Let's work together to make this the biggest year Pacific has ever known!

Physics Prof. (making assignment): "Tomorrow start with lightning and go to thunder."

PRESIDENT PENNINGTON TALKS

In giving his reasons for choosing to work in Pacific College, President Pennington said, "There are three reasons which I wish to stress.

"First, because I love education. It is fine to see plants bloom and bear fruit; finer still to see human beings grow in knowledge, goodness and power. The solution of the greatest world problems must be largely brought about through education. 'If the answer is easy, it is wrong.' The thinking of the world must be changed if the world is to be changed, and the thinking of the world can be transformed only through education.

"Second, I love Christian education. The state must conduct the work of education on a large scale, and we must help to make public education as good as it can be made; but public educational institutions can not choose their students as the Christian college can, and with the public educational institutions owned by the people, Jew and Gentile, Protestant and Catholic, Christian and atheist, it is not possible in the public institutions to give moral and religious training the place which their importance deserves.

"Third, I love Quaker education. Friends have no occasion to boast, and there is plenty to make them ashamed as they face some of their failures to measure up to their full opportunities. But the world, even the Christian world, is groping in its attempt to find some of the truths for which Friends have particularly stood. I am glad to work where Christianity is emphasized as a way of life rather than conformity to any code of ritualism, or even the acceptance of any truth; and where it is possible to emphasize without restraint those great forces on which Christ relied—love, not hate; good will, not selfishness; faith in one another, not suspicion and distrust; peace, not war."

Pacific can well be proud to have a president with these ideals and ideas.

Y. M. C. A. PRESIDENT ELECTED

Arthur H. Winters, Y. M. C. A. vice-president, acted as chairman during the first part of the meeting, held October 5. The opening exercises consisted of two hymns, a short scripture reading by the chairman, and a few sentence prayers.

The meeting was devoted to the election of a president for the coming year. This office was filled by Carl Crane last spring, who is not attending college now. A nominating committee which was selected at the previous meeting brought forth the names of Stanley Kendall, Wesley Schaad and Arthur Winters as nominees to the office. The vote was exciting, as all three men were well liked, were capable men for the office, and were Juniors. Following an interesting discussion in which the good points of the men were discussed, the ballot was cast and Stanley Kendall became the new president.

After a short speech of appreciation the meeting was adjourned by the new president.

The Y. M. C. A. expects to accomplish great things under the leadership of the new president, who is a capable man in every way.—C. B.

ABOUT THE CAMPUS

President Pennington gave an address last Friday to the State Bar Association on "A Layman's Look at the Law."

Bertha McCracken, the new professor of Spanish, is living in rooms in the McNay home just across the street from the athletic field.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Winford Mather, the former the new principal of the academy, are living just at the edge of town on the Portland road.

Russell W. Lewis, head of the English department, is taking some graduate work in English in the University of Oregon Extension Division in Portland this year.

President Levi T. Pennington is to preach the morning sermon at the all-day celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the dedication of South Salem Friends church, October 9.

Perry D. Macy, professor of History, is preparing a brief outline of the history of Friends in Oregon for a History of Oregon being prepared by Professor Robert H. Down of the Franklin High School of Portland.

Esther Binford, head of the academy English department and of the work of physical education for women, has also taken charge of Kanyon Hall and will be the dormitory hostess there during the coming year.

FACULTY ELECTS OFFICERS

The Pacific College faculty has been organized with the following officers: Chairman, President Levi T. Pennington; vice-chairman, Floyd W. Perisho; secretary, Mary C. Sutton; treasurer, Eva L. Miles; manager bookstore, Perry D. Macy; member of college athletic council, Floyd W. Perisho; member State Athletic Board, Floyd W. Perisho; fire marshal, Dwight W. Michener; supervisor of dramatics, Leona Watland; Poo-Bah, J. Winford Mather; excuse officers: Emma M. Hodgin; academy, Emma M. Hodgin; commercial, Mary L. Johnson.

ACADEMY FROSH INITIATED

The Second Year class of the academy gave the First Year prep students a warm reception Friday night, October 7, at the home of Burton Frost, Second Year class president. The yearlings were properly aided in a series of competitive stunts, including imitations of "Lindy", the aviator, ice branding and other hazardous exploits. The hardest test that the First Years received was the art of swallowing "fish eyes," a composition of boiled tapioca pudding and salmon. Ravenous prowling Fourth Years became so incensed with the smell of the tasty dish that they forced themselves upon the merrymakers only to be frightened away by the courageous Second Years. The party ended with luscious sandwiches, cake and ice cream.

PACIFIC SUBSTITUTES SOCCER FOR FOOTBALL

P. C. will not play football this year. This was decided in a meeting of the Men's Athletic Association when a recommendation of committee chosen to look into the matter was accepted. There was discussion pro and con on the question but when it came to a vote the acceptance was practically unanimous. While we would like very much to play football this year, it seemed unwise to try, in view of the fact that new suits and other equipment which is necessary would cost about two hundred and seventy-five dollars.

The committee recommended that soccer, tennis and volley ball be substituted for football, and also that basket ball training be started earlier this year.

Soccer, which is not so familiar to the most of us, as one of the major sports at Pacific, is a real "huskies" game. If you don't believe it, turn out and try your luck at proving it otherwise. All the author found out the night he tried it was that there is supposed to be eleven men to a side and that the playing field is much larger than it looks. This splendid material which would have been used for football can be turned into soccer stars just as easily as into Red Granges.

Tennis is one of our standbys, and a little fall tuning up will do no one any harm. Being no weather prophet, we can only hope for a month of tennis weather.

There is talk of organizing a men's volley ball team, and this is a good place for several men to star for Pacific.

Our basket ball prospects are brighter this year than they have been for some time and no doubt we will place high in the conference this year. With the new material and the letter men that are back, our chances at the top are as good as the rest of the conference teams.

If anyone feels discouraged about the athletic outlook, the best way to be rid of such a feeling is to exert his several abilities in one of these games which have been recommended by the committee chosen to advise in this matter. Let This Be a Big Year for Pacific.

CHAPEL NOTES

The first chapel of the year was held September 21. In front of us, on the platform, we could see familiar faces among the teachers, and one or two new faces. All around us were new students, whom we were anxious to become acquainted with, and old students whom we were anxious to greet and visit with again.

It seemed natural to hear Prof. Hull sing and Mrs. Hull play again, and of course we enjoyed it as we always do.

When President Pennington was introducing all the teachers we were anxiously waiting to see what he was going to say about the next one, and doubtless they were more anxious about it than we were, especially if he or she happened to be the next one to be introduced.

After the necessary preliminaries of the first chapel were over, President Pennington gave a helpful and inspiring address, urging the students to make this the best year of their school lives.

Sept. 27—Rev. Gervas A. Carey, the new pastor of the Friends church, gave a good talk. He compared our lives to an engine and asked us if we were running the whole "shebang?" God has intended that we should be the engineers of our own lives. Are we masters of the throttle? Do we always refrain from doing that which we know will be harmful? Do we do that which is constructive, although it may involve more effort than the destructive? Do we have self-control, wholesome thoughts, restrained tongue, controlled temper?—L. H.

REVEREND CARY SPEAKS

Rev. Gervas A. Cary, pastor of the Friends church of Newberg, gave the Y. M. C. A. a very helpful talk September 28, in which, with a twinkle in his eye and a partially concealed smile playing on his lips, he began, "It is seldom that a preacher uses slang for a text but I am going to use one this morning. It is this, 'Where do we go from here?'" He answered the question in his text by saying, "No where."

Mr. Cary then brought out the point that we are not preparing for life as many people think we are, but that we are living now. We can't do wrong now and think that we will do different when we get through school or into "life" as we ordinarily think of life, but the habits which we do now will follow us and work either a good or bad influence on us as long as we live if we don't begin to overcome them now.

One thing we must do now instead of waiting until we get out of college is to be prompt in money matters. Pay our debts when they come due. Better yet, pay them a few days before they come due. Mr. Cary then went on to say that there were times when it was impossible to meet our obligations but even that did not offer us an excuse to forget about them. In a time like that we should meet our creditors face to face and tell them why we can't pay just then and then ask for a renewal. He said it was a fact that banks were more ready to loan money to an individual whom they knew would be in on or before the day specified and ask for a renewal if unable to pay, than to loan money to a man who was a few days late in settling.

"We are not preparing for life but living now. Let's do our best," were the concluding remarks.

LIBRARY NEWS

Pacific College Library is better equipped to meet the needs of the students than ever before. Due to the crowded situation of last year, a library annex was provided during the summer months. At present this room contains books waiting to be added to the library. It also serves as a faculty study room.

During last year gifts were received from Earlham, Guilford, and Haverford colleges, as well as from Mrs. D. A. Walters, and other individuals. A great many new books were purchased to make class-room work more efficient.

The State Library is sending part of a series of books on the subject of International Mond. These books can be kept only a short time.

Friends of the college, and all students are encouraged to enjoy the library.

"I heard a new one the other day. I wonder if I told it to you?"

"Is it funny?"

"Yes."

"Then you haven't."

INITIAL MEETING HELD

The first meeting of the Association this fall was held in the chapel on Wednesday morning, Sept. 28. Special music, consisting of a violin solo by Beryl Hale and a vocal solo by May Pearson, was enjoyed by all. The president, Lolita Hinshaw, gave an introductory talk, telling the girls something of the history of the Y. W. C. A. as a national organization, and also of the purpose of the Association in Pacific College. This was followed by short talks from each cabinet member, giving in brief summary the duties and responsibilities of each office. The cabinet members gave their talks in the following order.

Faculty Advisor: Miss Johnson.
Membership Committee: Rachel Lundquist.
Secretary: Margaret Jackson.
Treasurer: Genevieve Badley.
Missionary Committee: Mary Mills.
Social Committee: Wilma Evans.
Music Committee: Retha Tucker.
Undergraduate Representative: Rosa Aebischer.
Social Service Committee: Lela Guley.
Deputation Representative: Mildred Choate.

The resignation of the vice-president, Rachel Lundquist, was accepted, and the report of the Nominating Committee was read, which gave the names of May Pearson and Rosa Aebischer as candidates for this vacancy.

KANYON HALL LIVELY PLACE

The mice in Canyon Hall have again entered the annual torturous period of training in learning that they must remain in their abodes between the walls or keep out of the way of traps. Many have already paid with their lives.

The old dorm fairly buzzes with life during the day time, and creaks and squeaks in blessed relief at night when the fourteen inmates are lost in the land of dreams.

A new House Governing Committee has been formed which is composed of Miss Binford, the matron, May Pearson, house president, Ila Tozier, secretary and treasurer, Genevieve Badley, house social chairman. Members chosen at large to represent college and academy were Rachel Lundquist and Elva Votaw.

ACADEMY ECHOES

Beryl Hale was elected to fill the vacancy left by the absence of Philip Holding, as president of the Academy Student Body.

The members of Athena wish to encourage the charter members, for definite action has been taken on the matter of pins.

The Fourth Year class have agreed one and all on what they wish their new rings to be.

JOKES

Have you seen the row of faculty "eligibles" gazing wistfully at the diamond rings in the C. A. Morris jewelry store window? I have.

"Did you hear about her teeth falling out while she was playing tennis?"
"No. Did she lose the set?"

"Did you ever hear about the Scotchman who turned the corner on two wheels to save his tires?"

The principal divisions of California: Earthquakes.

"Percy is taking medicine at college."
"How long has he been sick?"

ACADEMY ELECTIONS

The following offices were filled at recent elections in the academy:
The officers of the Fourth Year class are:

President—Mabel Kendall.
Vice-president—Alice Crozier.
Secretary and Treasurer—Juliet Godwin.
Social Committee Chairman—Beryl Hale.

Third Year class:—
President—Edith Kendall.
Vice-president—Elva Votaw.
Secretary-Treasurer—Irene Brown.
Social Committee Chairman—Eva Kendall.

Crescent Reporter—La Verne Hutchens.

Second Year class:—
President—Burton Frost.
Vice-president—Carl Sandoz.
Secretary—Winifred Woodward.
Treasurer—Dennis McGuire.
Social Committee Chairman—Ralph Moore.

First Year class:—
President—Mildred Smith.
Vice-president—Wenona Wendt.
Secretary—Margaret Weesner.
Treasurer—Ronald Hutchens.
Social Committee—Elizabeth Aebischer and Olene St. Oonge.

TREFIAN CORNER

Trefian Literary Society held the first meeting of the year in the girls' dormitory parlors on Wednesday, September 28th, at 4 o'clock.

Since this is the only organization of its kind, it plays a very prominent part in the life of the college girl.

Aside from the social value of the society, carefully planned programs afford opportunity for expression of personal abilities as well as entertainment for all.

New officers were elected for the coming year, and are as follows:
President—Genevieve Badley.
Vice-president—Margaret Jackson.
Secretary—Ila Tozier.
Treasurer—Generva Street.
Marshal—Wilma Evans.
Faculty Advisor—Miss Miles.
Crescent Reporter—Miss Watland.

Y. W. NOTES

The meeting of the Y. W. girls on Wednesday morning, October 5, was enjoyed by all present. After special music, furnished by Miss Miles and Miss Binford, Lolita Hinshaw gave an interesting talk, showing the significance of the three lighted candles that were burning in the front of the room. She told the girls that they represented Body, Mind, and Soul, and then told how to best develop each one of these important factors of life.

At the close of the talk, fifteen girls joined the Y. W. C. A. of Pacific College by lighting a small candle which each one carried, by one of the large ones. They then all repeated the Y. W. pledge together.

The Association is very glad for these new members and it is hoped that there may be much concentrated effort in making this year the best year that the Y. W. at Pacific has ever known.
