DELIGHTFUL CONCERT GIVEN BY GLEE CLUB

Large Audience Hears Pacific College Women's Glee Club

The Pacific College women's glee club, under the direction of Alexander B. Hull, gave a splendid musical concert Tuesday evening, Feb. 28, to a large and appreciative audience assembled in Wood-Mar hall.

The concert opened with the chorus singing "The Rainbow" by Taylor, which is a very beautiful piece and which was very nicely handled by the group. This was followed with a delightful interpretation of "The Clock," a light rippling composition by Burchell.

Lolita Hinshaw, soprano soloist, sang "To A Wild Rose," composition by Edward Mac Dowell, which she interpreted very nicely. Miss Hinshaw sang with apparent ease and possessed good control of her voice. The audience was next delighted by the glee club singing the Russian composition, "Chorus of Polovetzian Maidens" by Borodin, which is a very characteristic piece containing many minor progressions of the passionate Russian nature. This number was perhaps one of the most difficult selections sung, as well as a favorite with the crowd.

Elva Votaw, member of the women's chorus, presented two humorous readings, "So Was I," and "When The Folks Are Gone," by James Whitcomb Riley, which were well received.

The women's chorus then followed with two very pleasing selections, an Irish cradle song entitled, "I'll Rock You To Rest," by Stanford, and "Flower of Dreams" by Clokey, the latter a very beautiful composition possessing many changes of minor progression. This very characteristic piece was very heartily received by the audience, and was one of the favorite numbers on the program.

Frank Cole, baritone from the college men's glee club, assisted in the concert by singing two very pleasing numbers, "Love's Coronation" by Aylward, and "A Little Prayer For Me" by Russell. Mr. Cole was accompanied by Professor Hull on the 'cello, and Miss Genevieve Badley at the piano. This was followed by two very pleasing readings by Della Hanville, member of the women's chorus, "Booka Man" and "Past Vacation Sentiments," which were heartily applauded by the audience.

The chorus next sang Mendelssohn's

P. C. TIES FOR FIFTH PLACE

Glen Rinard, representing Pacific College in the Old Line Oratorical contest held at Eugene last Friday night, tied with the representative of Albany College for fifth place. Glen gave his talk in a very touching manner and made a very great impression on his audience. The speaker from Oregon State College took first place. Nine colleges in the state of Oregon were represented by student orators.

After the contest a very elaborate banquet was served to the different speakers and their friends.

The members of the Friends Church choir who reside in the dormitories entertained the choir at a rehearsal in the parlors of Canyon Hall Thursday evening, March 1. Dixies and wafers were served at the close of rehearsal.

THE FORESTRY RESERVE GIVES CHAPEL PROGRAM

A very interesting and instructive program was given at the chapel hour Friday, March 2, by Mr. W. V. Fuller, representative of the Oregon Forestry Reserve.

Mr. Fuller gave a short talk about the forests of Oregon. The five north-western states—Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Washington and California have one-fifth of the forests of the United States, and Oregon has a large fraction of the forests of these states. The forests of Oregon pay a great deal of the taxes of the state. Wherever a pure mountain stream is seen, one can be sure that it has its source in some forested district. Forests not only furnish pure drinking water, but irrigation water also depends upon them. The greatest curse to these beautiful forests God has so bountifully given mankind is fire. Every year great havoc is wrought by this agency. The carelessness of man is responsible for sixty per cent of these fires, Mr. Fuller said. The damage occurring by fires cannot be remedied for many, many years, and in some cases it can never be repaired. The present generation owes it to future generations to preserve these vast forests.

Following this talk, a short motion picture comedy was given, which was enjoyed much by the students and faculty. After the comedy Mr. Fuller showed many pictures of the forests, lakes, and scenic spots of the northwest. The wise owl often was flashed upon the screen, reproving mankind for his carelessness in regard to the nature home of the forest folk. Pictures of forests before and after a fire made one realize the crime of being careless to the least degree in regard to this great gift of God.

RETURNS FROM LECTURE TOUR

President Pennington returned Monday night, March 5, from a lecture tour in Idaho and Utah, on which he left Saturday evening, February 25. With his lecture work he combined some work for the college among Friends in Idaho at Wilder, Greenleaf, Caldwell, Star, and Boise.

Sunday, February 26, he spoke on the "Path to Permanent Peace" at the community church in Parma, Idaho; in the evening he addressed a union meeting of all the protestant churches in Caldwell on the subject "Two Wars;" Wednesday, February 29, he gave his lecture on "Shepherd Dogs and Pessimists" at the Utah Agricultural College at Logan, Utah; Sunday morning, March 4, he preached in Saint Michael's Episcopal cathedral at Boise, and in the evening addressed a union meeting of the protestant churches in the big high school auditorium on the "Path to Permanent Peace."

MRS. MARTIN SERIOUSLY ILL

Mrs. Evangeline Martin, who has been an ardent supporter of Pacific College, is seriously ill. Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Woodward made Wood-Mar Hall possible and two seats have been permanently reserved for them in the front of the chapel. Until recently she lived on South River street but is now staying with her sister in Portland.

YOU'RE THE JUDGE

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the Student Body of Pacific College for the honor they have given me in electing me Editor of the Crescent.

Is it best to do a thing and then talk about it, or talk about it and then do it? In this case, I will tell you what the new staff is going to try to do, and then try to do it. You are the judges—we are the judged.

First—we are going to try to keep up the high, Christian standards which previous Crescent staffs have set, and, in the coming year, to make the Crescent as good or better, if possible, than before.

Second—we are going to try to get the Crescent out on time every issue! That is quite a task but it can be done with the hearty cooperation of the students. If this cooperation is given, then ere the sun fades in the west on every other Tuesday the Crescent will have been published, distributed and mailed. How can this be?

That's a fair question—by having all material in promptly and not later than the Friday before publication.

Students, why not help the Crescent staff this year with your SUPPORT! Then, at the end of the year, give us a good verdict.

HAVE A PROGRAM!

The editor wishes to suggest that those wishing to do so might use the program as printed on the front page, at the concert tonight to answer the question "What's next?"

REPORTS OF RETIRING STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

The following are a group of reports submitted by the different committee chairmen for the past year:

Report of Forensics Manager of Pacific College

During the past year of student activity Pacific College has been represented in all forensic activities except debate. Last year Pacific College was represented in the Inter-collegiate Oratorical Contest, or Old Line Contest, by Glen Brown. In the Peace Contest the Pacific College orator was Gwendolyn Hanson, and our extemporaneous speaker was Gladys Hadley. These contests were held at Pacific College last year and were put over, seemingly, in a good manner. The annual Old Pulpit contest, which is purely a local affair, was won by Walter Cook.

The Old Line orator for Pacific this year is Glen Rinard, and the contest was held last Friday at Eugene. The tryouts for the Peace Contest have not been held yet but several are preparing orations. There were several debates scheduled for the past season but it was necessary to cancel them because of the lack of interest in debate this year.

The total expenses for forensics the past season have not exceeded $10, the greatest part of which was incurred at the State Peace Contest held here last April.

Respectfully submitted,
Bernard Newby, Forensic Manager.

Report of Dramatics Committee

The committee has chosen "So This Is London!" for the May Day play. Approval of the faculty committee on student affairs has been received and application for presentation will be sent in at once. Royalty is quoted on application, so the amount cannot be stated here.

Rachel Lundquist.

Report of Student Loan Fund

Amount students have raised	$429.17
Donations of Mr. Booth	300.00
Total of above	$729.17

Cash on hand	60.82
Loans at interest	225.00

Total capital	$795.82
Net increase by interest since 1923	$66.65

It was understood that as soon as the students of Pacific College raised $500.00 ($100.00 for each of five consecutive years) R. A. Booth of Eugene would donate $500.00 ($100.00 for each of five consecutive years) for a Student Loan Fund, making a total of $1,000.00 available for loans to college students. This is the fifth year and we have $70.83 yet to raise this year. Let's do it.

Stanley Kendall,
Student Body representative to Student Loan Fund.

Song Leader's Report

Another year of Student Body administration has come to a close and a new staff of officers has now assumed authority. As the retiring song leader, I take this opportunity through the columns of the Crescent to wish my most worthy successor a year of enjoyment and interesting experience in that position. Let's every one of us stand by her and make the new year start out with a bang. Such a position needs support, for it is a peculiar feeling in which to be standing alone.

I also take this opportunity to express my appreciation for the lusty efforts of the faithful who have made it their individual duty to be present at every game and pep session. My term of office has been one of interest and at the same time a "liberal education." Every united effort of the student body to make a united noise has been most thoroughly appreciated.

Let's help the new song leader to really enjoy this coming year. And let's remember that in this effort we are not only backing her but we are backing our Alma Mater.

Rae.

Yell King's Report

I have called many meetings to try to instill pep into the student body, but in view of the fact that so few attended them perhaps I should give an idea of what has been done. I have been in office so long that I have been taken for granted and only a few have attended. I hope you who have cooperated with me will help the new yell king get his bearings and support him in all the things he tries to do.

Bob—To you my hearty wishes for the best of success.

Donald Crozer, Yell King.

Report of Secretary and Treasurer of Old Students Association for the Year 1927-28

As secretary and treasurer of the Old Students Association for the year 1927-28 I have performed the regular duties of a treasurer. The treasurer's report will be read at the public meeting of the Old Students Association, December, 1928. As secretary I have worked with the president of the association in planning the annual meeting of that organization which was held December, 30, 1927, at Pacific College.

Respectfully submitted,
Retha Tucker,
Secretary and Treasurer of the Old Students Association.

NEW PIANO IN DORM

The girls of Canyon Hall are enjoying the new Kohler & Campbell piano which was installed this week. The old instrument formerly in the dormitory was removed to the men's dorm. The new piano was purchased through Kienle & Son of Newberg and is a fine instrument. Its purchase was made possible by the piano fund which was started several years ago and added to each year by the receipts from public glee club concerts given by the college students.

FRIENDS TEAMS AND ACADEMY VICTORS IN TRIPLE-HEADER

Both the boys' team and the girls' team of the Friends church defeated the boys' and girls' teams representing the Christian church in two added attractions to the main game of the evening between Pacific Academy and Dundee High School, which P. A. won by a score of 18-9. The boys of the Friends church won their game by a score of 29-21 and the girls by a score of 20-18.

The Quaker girls had to fight all the way through in order to win. The Christian Church girls kept right on their heels and the game was in doubt until the end. The Quaker team was made up mostly of the Pacific College and Academy team and the Christian Church team of the high school team. Stanley Kendall officiated at the game.

The boys of the Friends Church had little trouble in defeating their opponents, although at one time the Christian Church boys were only three points behind. The game was rough-an-tumble throughout but very fast. The Quaker team was made up of college men and their opponents' team was composed of ex-high school stars, with the exception of Baker, who played for the college the past season. D. W. Michener of Pacific College refereed.

The Academy team out-weighted and out-played the Dundee aggregation. The P. A. boys played hard fast ball and Dundee couldn't keep up the fast pace

SHORT STORY COLUMN

A LESSON IN PEP

His arms were pinioned behind his back and a pair of strong arms grappled him around the knees. As he fell heavily to the ground a flashlight was turned full into his face and the voice of the freshman president rasped out, "Hello, old Pep. We got you goin' now. What'd you say we have a little pep rally right here and now?"

A sudden fear seized the yell leader. "Say, let me go, you freshies. I gotta date tonight. You're getting me all dirty."

"Sure you gotta date. It's right here with us. We're all givin' you an invitation to our pep rally. Let's begin, follows," put in Bud, the president.

Dick's eyes had become accustomed to the dark by this time and he could see a ring of ten or twelve freshmen gathering around him. Two or three of them jerked him to his feet and another armed with a baseball bat took his place behind the quaking yell leader.

"All right, let's start in with the school song," said Bud. "Make it strong now, Pep."

A vigorous prod with the baseball bat from the boy behind him, and the threatening aspect of the surrounding freshmen goaded Dick on and he sang the school song through as loud as his shaking voice permitted. He hoped that this would end the "rally" but his hopes were quickly shattered, for Bud at once announced the next yell, and another prod from the bat helped him on when he faltered.

So on it went. An hour went by and then another. He could hear the town clock striking ten. An hour or so before he had had hopes of ice cream and cake at this time but now, oh, how different! His voice was hoarse and back was sore from the constant proddings, but he knew that it was useless to resist the commands of Bud. Several times he dropped wearily to the ground only to be forced to rise again and go on with his yelling.

After what seemed ages to Dick the freshmen began to show some signs of relenting. Several of them disappeared and finally only Bud was left. The freshman president took off his cap, ran his fingers through his hair and regarded the weary senior scornfully. "Well, how did you like our little rally? I reckon you'll get up in assembly and apologize to the freshmen tomorrow. So long, and say, if you don't apologize tomorrow—well, we might call another rally," and with these words Bud vanished into the night.

Wearily, the senior president betook himself homeward and with a shaking hand he took down the telephone receiver. "Hello, Mable? Say Mable, I'm awfully sorry, really I am, but I was—er—ah—unavoidably de—tained tonight. Just a little matter of—er—business, you know. I'll be over tomorrow and —." The only answer at the other end of the line was a cold, heartless click of a receiver.

The town clock was striking twelve when at last the humbled yell leader laid his weary head upon his pillow. Instead of his earlier visions of a starry eyed Mable, there now floated hazily before his eyes a pitiful figure of himself, disgraced forever in the sight of his school, apologizing to an exultant row of freshies. (E. R. M.)

set, although they tried nobly. The score at the half was 6-2 in favor of the local boys. This was the final game of the season for the academy. Othel Schmoie and Merlin Brown handled the whistle for this fracas.

SCHOOL NOTES

Robert Smith of Eugene was a campus visitor over the week end March 3.

Gwendolyn and Wendel Hanson spent Sunday at their home in Oswego on March 3.

Clare Howard, Sanford Brown and William Sweet journeyed to Mt. Hood to enjoy the winter sports Sunday, March 4.

Philip Gatch was elected president of the Presbyterian Y. P. S. C. E. to succeed Ervin Diment, retiring president, Friday night, March 9, at a banquet and meeting of the society.

May Pearson, Rachel Lundquist, Mildred Choate, Miss Esther Binford, Miss Eva Miles, Genevieve Badley, Frank Cole and Wendell Hutchens were among the Portland week-end visitors Mar. 3.

Quite a question has been raised among the students, whether or not the boys' glee club concert, which is tonight, will be as successful as the girls' glee club concert just two weeks previous.

Mrs. J. Winford Mather, who has been ill for several weeks, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Portland Tuesday morning, March 6. She is recovering nicely.

The basketball boys of Pacific Academy were entertained with a fine chicken dinner prepared by Mrs. Moore and Mrs. McGuire last Thursday evening. No limit was set on the amount each boy was to eat, so all left happy and "full."

Who tied the knots in the painter's trousers? Ask May and Mildred if they know anything about it. Anyway, the matron returned to the dorm in time to see the poor victim struggling with the knots and declaring how he was going to send someone to the penitentiary.

REV. GERVAS CAREY GIVES
TALK TO Y. W. C. A. GIRLS

"We walk into the kingdom of Heaven rather than talk into the kingdom of Heaven." These striking words introduced Rev. Gervas Carey's talk to the Y. W. C. A. girls on Wednesday, February 29.

Mr. Carey went on to say that the kingdom of Heaven is attained primarily through walking, rather than talking. There is great danger of a profession which is not backed by possession.

"Of vital importance is the personal relationship with God, and the most essential thing is to have that which satisfies and makes conscience clear. Next in importance is the social relationship, and this is dependent upon profession and determined by actions. Carelessness in financial matters, in all manner of conduct, and a selfish attitude toward others should be guarded against," said Rev. Carey.

"Testimony is important, but each testimony is a challenge to us. What we say should be made effective by right living," said Mr. Carey in conclusion to his most interesting and helpful talk.

At the close of this, six new members joined the Y. W. Association. The Y. W. C. A. welcomes these girls into the Association and it is hoped that each one will always be glad that she has joined.

INTERESTING SPEAKER IN Y. W.

Mrs. Rebecca Smith afforded the girls a most interesting and novel meeting on March 7. The Scripture verse was chosen from 1 Peter 5:10, "But the God of all grace . . . make you perfect, stablish, strengthen, settle you."

Mrs. Smith talked about things that "settle," and drawing illustrations from every day life she made a spiritual application for everything "settling." There are many things that settle—dust settles, buildings are settled, that is, they have a foundation. There's a "going down" in every settling. Is there any danger of tipping the wrong way, or settling down without a foundation?

"There is nothing that so clears up the spiritual atmosphere as to do what is obviously God's will." Some things have to be settled, and there are things which must be cleared away. It is necessary to settle questions and to clear the experience.

A new "fill" hasn't settled and the dirt is not compact. The Lord sometimes has to shake people a little to get them "settled" on a firm foundation. Things "on the fence" have to be settled, but they mustn't be settled too quickly, said Mrs. Smith.

Debts also have to be settled. "Ye are not your own—ye are bought with a price."

Mrs. Smith concluded this helpful talk by saying that it is worth while to get on a firm foundation, to settle and get clear the things that trouble and are cloudy.

TREFIAN PROGRAM GIVEN

The topic, "Spring," was the basis of an interesting Trefian program last week. An instrumental duet, "Spring Song," was played by Miss Miles and Rachel Lundquist. Some local literary talent was shown in an original story entitled, "Pussy Willows," read by May Cooper. The program concluded with an interesting account of "Spring in Cuba" by Miss McCracken. She said that all seasons in Cuba are so much like the one we call spring that it is difficult to pick out one season and call it spring.

composition, "I Waited For the Lord," and "The Sunworshippers" by Loomis, which were very different in nature but possessing very pleasing variations of harmony. The selection, "The Sunworshippers," was sung in the native Zungl Indian translation and was well received by the audience.

"Largo from New World Symphony" by Dvorak was played by a group of strings including violins, Clifton Parrett, Herbert Owens, Beryl Hale, Ralph Yergen, and Joseph Silver; Professor Hull with the 'cello, and Mrs. Hull at the piano. This number was very well played and one of the favorite concert selections. The piece is one of the saddest in the world, and although melancholy it is very beautiful in its musical progressions.

The closing group of numbers were sung by the complete chorus of voices and included three very interesting and humorous selections, "Ma Li'l Banjo," Dichmont; "The Moo-Cow-Moo," Bularld; and "Hong-Kong Romance" by Hadley.

This was the first appearance of the women's glee club this year, and they are to be complimented on the high quality of their program and interpretation of the most difficult selections. The chorus consists of approximately thirty-four voices.

The proceeds of the concert are to be divided for different purposes, half going toward the purchase of a new piano for the women's dormitory of the college.

Two weeks from the date of this concert the men's glee club of the college will give their first concert, Tuesday evening, Mar. 13, in Wood-Mar hall. Holders of season tickets to the two concerts are urged to keep this date in mind. P. M. G.

A boy was seen to steal into his father's garage. He slowly and cautiously lifted up the hood of the machine and groped blindly underneath. Finally he drew forth an oil can, and replacing the hood stole away with his prize. Five minutes later he might have been seen in his room busily engaged. Oil drenched he was, oil-stained he was, oil-smelled, oil here, oil there, oil everywhere, under the bed, over the bed, around the bed, all through the bed, OIL!

The mother of the boy appeared on the scene and after the necessary gasps and groans which issued from her throat in order to make this story more realistic, she turned and fled, leaving in her wake the first signs of spring—a boy and a brand new baseball mitt. That's oil.

BUSINESS MEN'S VOLLEY BALL TOURNAMENT OVER

Some fifty men took part in the volley ball games for the season of 1928, which were held in the college gym on Tuesday and Thursday nights of every week. Eight teams, composed of the business men of Newberg, enjoyed the games, which ended last Thursday night with the College Faculty defeating the Yamhill Electric team. The men taking part enjoyed the recreation a great deal and a spirit of good fellowship and fun was developed among the men of the community. The class of volley ball played has steadily improved until the men have become quite adept at the game. It is hoped that the games will be continued with increased enthusiasm next year.

The standing of the teams:

	Won	Lost
College Faculty	7	0
Yamhill Electric	6	1
Business Men North	5	2
Professional Men	4	3
Business Men South	3	4
Ministers	2	5
High School Faculty	1	6
Clerks	0	7
