P. C. FACULTY FORCE CHANGES ANNOUNCED

Emmett Gulley to Head Next Year's Physical Education

There are to be more than the usual number of changes in the Pacific College faculty for the coming year. Six who have been on the force 1927-28 are to be away next year, three on leave of absence and three by resignations.

Professor F. W. Perisho is to do another year of graduate work in chemistry in the University of Iowa, and will leave for the Hawkeye state within the next two weeks.

The chemistry work will be handled the coming year by Helen Hester Wood, who took her degree from Pacific College in 1924, spent another year in Friends University, and has had three years of successful teaching experience. She will also handle some work in the preparatory department.

Dwight W. Michener, professor of Economics and Sociology, and head of the physical education work, will spend the year in further graduate work in Columbia University, New York, after a summer's vacation in Idaho, the home of Mrs. Michener's parents, and Iowa, where Professor Michener formerly lived.

Emmett Gulley heads the department in physical education, beginning next fall, and will teach the work in Economics and Sociology for next year. He is a graduate of Pacific College in 1917, with a master's degree from the T. Wistar Brown Graduate School of Haverford College, and another year of graduate work in Hartford Theological Seminary. He spent five years as a missionary in Mexico and has been, for the past three years field superintendent for New York Yearly Meeting of Friends. Mr. Gulley was a star athlete during his preparatory and college days.

Eva L. Miles, Professor of German and French, has resigned to accept a similar position in Guilford college in North Carolina. Her place in the German department has not yet been filled. Professor Lewis will take the French work for next year.

Horace C. Terrell has been added to the faculty for the coming year. He will relieve Professor Lewis of part of his English teaching, will give some assistance in the Academy, and will take some work in the college in preparation for an advanced degree. He will aid in the physical education work and will have charge of the men's dormitory. Mr. Terrell did his preparatory work and most of his college work in Pacific College but took his degree from Earlham college. He has had graduate work and successful teaching experience. Mr. Terrell was a star athlete in school

ACADEMY — COMMERCIAL STUDENTS GET DIPLOMAS

The Pacific Academy and Commercial Department commencement program was held Tuesday afternoon, June 12, at the college. The graduates, led by President Pennington, and the speaker for the program, marched in procession from the back of the room as Mary Sue Binford played Handel's Largo. They ascended the flower banked stage from the center and took their places. The invocation was pronounced by Gervas A. Carey, pastor of the Newberg Friends church, followed by a saxophone duet featuring Martha and Esther Mueller, accompanied at the piano by Dorothy Mueller.

Professor Robert H. Dann, P. C., '17, associate professor of sociology at O. A. C., gave the commencement address, his subject being "Perpetual Freshmen."

STUDENTS CLIMB MT. HOOD

Five Pacific college students, William Sweet, Clare Howard, Ervin Diment, Harold Smith, and Elmore Jackson, climbed Mt. Hood Friday, June 8. Driving to Government Camp Friday they hiked to Timber Line cabin in an hour and a half, finding the snow line half way up. The boys spent two hours at the cabin, resting, and resumed their climb about twelve o'clock that night. The moon came up about one o'clock, making the mountain very beautiful. The conditions were ideal and the group reached Crater rock about four o'clock. The last climb was hard but they gained the summit by 5:30. The sight from the top was grand in the sunrise but it was cold enough to make everyone glad to leave, after they had taken pictures.

The return to Timber Line cabin was made in an hour and a half and the boys reached Government Camp in another hour. Two dogs from the hotel accompanied the fellows to the summit and seemed to get as much fun out of the trip as anyone. The boys started home about eleven Saturday morning, regretting only that someone had stolen lunches and a tool kit from the car.—Graphic.

The splendid dinner was prepared by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Friends church, and served by the Misses Beryl Hale and Elizabeth Carey, assisted by Bernard Newby and Joseph Silver. Donald Crozer furnished the music by faithfully changing the records on the phonograph.

Many Friends from various parts of the state, and other states, including California, Idaho and Washington, are in Newberg attending the Friends Yearly Meeting at the Friends church. The business sessions are held in the mornings and afternoons, and special preaching services are held in the evening.

ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES HELD

Dr. Bowman of Portland Gives Splendid Address to Seniors

With Dr. Harold L. Bowman as speaker, the Pacific College annual commencement exercises occurred in Wood-Mar Hall at ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, June 13.

Taking as his topic, "Troglodites of Today," Dr. Bowman spoke of the different kinds of cave men or troglodites which exist today. Taking first the intellectual, the speaker likened those who keep themselves within a narrow sphere, refusing to take advantage of the wealth of knowledge to be gained, to the cave men of olden days who dwelt within the dark of their caves and came out for but a short time, only to return to the darkness and be shut in within narrow walls without a glimmer of light.

In the same way he dealt with spiritual troglodites. Dr. Bowman stressed the fact that with a faith founded in Jesus Christ one should not fear to venture spiritually. No new truth which may be revealed can have any disturbing effect upon one firmly based and grounded.

Political and national cave men also occupied a part of the speaker's attention. A most startling illustration of a seeker after truth concluded a most striking address.

Following is the entire commencement program:

- Cradle Song Zelenski
 - 'Cello Solo, Prof. Alexander Hull
 - Accompanist, Eva Hummer Hull
 - Invocation Rev. G. A. Carey
 - Commencement Address Dr. Harold L. Bowman
 - Drumadon Sanderson
 - Vocal Solo, Prof. Alexander Hull
 - Accompanist, Eva Hummer Hull
 - Conferring of Degrees Dr. Levi T. Pennington
 - Benediction Rev. J. C. Mueller
- Degrees were given to eleven graduates, the largest class from Pacific College in more than twenty years. The degree of B. S. was given to Edris Ray.

FAREWELL PARTY AT SILVER'S

A farewell party was given at the home of Joseph Silver Tuesday, June 12, to several of the students who were leaving.

The evening was spent in playing rook, table tennis and charades. Refreshments of strawberry ice cream and cake were served. Those present were Esther Roberts, Josephine Roberts, May Cooper, Wilma Evans, Meredith Davey, Elisabeth Carey, Beryl Hale, Esther Mueller, Dorothea Woods, Ben Huntington, Bernard Newby, Donald Crozer, Errol Michener, Ervin Diment, Dick Haworth, Morris Silver and Joseph Silver.

YOUR COOPERATION

IS APPRECIATED

We, the Crescent staff, do heartily thank all the student body for the support and contributions made during the past year. We hope that our readers feel that the year has been a successful one for the Crescent. If they think so—then it is.

APPLYING PEP

In looking back over the year we see written on the pages the words, SUCCESS, IMPROVEMENT, and MORE IMPROVEMENT. Success has come to Pacific this year on very many lines. Practically all of the school functions have been successes. Many other lines of school activity have showed improvement. Especially has improvement been shown in athletics—very much improvement. Next year let's give our new coach a peppy bunch to work with—let's work with him. Then, in all lines of college activities there is more room for improvement. We haven't reached perfection yet—probably never will. But this we can do—and that this to lessen the strength of the word, more, in "more room for improvement." When you come back in the fall—DO IT! It takes school spirit, confidence, pep, work, and APPLICATION!
F. L. C.

Farewell Seniors! We don't like to lose you, and yet we wouldn't for the whole wide world want to keep you another year, for your time is up, your work is done—here—and you have larger worlds to conquer.

Our present graduating class has a record of achievement to be proud of, and we wish her (pardon, there is one HE) individual members the success and prosperity that is due them in the years to follow.

The class of '28 was the largest graduating class that Pacific has had for over twenty years, and has the unique distinction of possessing one real MAN—although not a solitary one, for he was well attended, as shown at the last Hallowe'en festival.

The class of '28 also received its share of honors in athletics, awards for public speaking, oratory, and debating, to say nothing of the positions of honor in student body offices that were held by seniors. Congratulations, Seniors, and may you do as well in the years to come. "Out of school life, into life's school" might well express the things that are to follow, and we hope that you may never forget your Alma Mater of Old Gold and Navy Blue. Farewell Seniors!
P. M. G.

$100,000.00 BANQUET

Next fall is to witness one of the greatest banquets that Pacific college has ever sponsored, and that banquet will concern every student and friend of Pacific.

Already the graduating class of '28, the present junior class, and over half of the faculty have asked for places at the banquet, and the sophomore class, in addition to completing the curtain fund this year, has signed up for half a ticket ($50.00). Members of the college board will probably go 100 per cent, and a number of generous contributions have arrived from friends in the east, to say nothing of the hundreds of dollars pledged by the business men of Newberg and Portland.

The tickets to the banquet may be purchased for $100.00 apiece, which assures the purchaser of a place at the banquet table, and which helps assure Pacific of her permanent Standardization.

It is hoped that many friends of the college and graduate students will respond readily to the support of the Alma Mater, for their contributions, whether large or small, will be gratefully appreciated.

Friends, think of yourself in one of those places next fall, and then be there.
P. M. G.

Realizing that several hundreds miles of "Terra Firma" separates me from the editor of the Crescent, I feel safe in saying a few of the things that would not ordinarily get into the channels of the Crescent. This privilege is mine in view of the fact that Frank has given me the editing "reins" for this issue, so here goes!

The editor's job is a hard one, and our present editor, Frank Cole, has shown himself the man for the job! He has given us a very worth-while paper, and supported all of the worth-while issues that Pacific college stands for, through the channels of his paper. He has not been afraid to stand for that which is right, and honorable, and to direct the policy of his paper for the very best interests of the school.

In many ways the editor's job is a thankless one, and embodies a lot of hard work and some grief, and it is my hope that the students will lend their earnest support next year to make the Crescent even better than it was this year, by helping the editor when help is needed.

If we can only get the feeling or spirit that this is our school, and our paper, and that their success depends upon the way we boost them, there will be little to worry about when once this feeling has been instilled in the minds of all of the students. Every student in school is a part of the student organization, and should feel his own responsibility toward it, whether it be great or small, for it is the spirit of cooperation that causes mountains to become mere mole hills in the progress of achievement against obstacles. Someone has said that "Anything that is worth doing, is worth doing well," and thus it should be with our efforts in the coming school year, whether it be in athletics, the Crescent, or any other form of student activity in which we have a part.

Yours for a "Greater Pacific" with "Greater Pep" for the coming year!
P. M. G.

"LEST WE FORGET"

"Lest we forget" the men who made possible this little paper of ours for the past year, it is fitting and proper that we should take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation for the splendid support and cooperation of the Newberg business men by advertising in the Crescent. We hope that they have benefitted by it materially and otherwise, and we hope that the students will remember those business men by their patronage and respect.

"SPARRER GRASS"

"Say, ma, the cats at the banquet sure was good, weren't they?"

"And say, pa, what did you think when they bro't on the radishes?"

"$3.96 gone!"

"Ah, pa, you're extravagant."

"No I ain't, 'cause them was Chas. L. Conover radishes."

"Well, what else didja have?"

"Oh, let me see. Lewis 'Russeled' them some chicken, so we had chicken 'a la Johnson'."

"How could you be so extravagant, pa, even Oliver Weesner couldn't count that much money?"

"It were just $33.68, ma, and sure tender, too. It was of the Iowa 'Mitchie' strain—sure did 'strain' my pocket strings. Then we had pie 'a la Binford,' and it was just like swallowin' gold nuggets—ninety-seven cents a bite."

"Well, pa, what did you think o' the potato salad?"

"Oh, ma, it hurts to think—I tho't them spuds was grown on Wall Street. And they was served in a most 'Whatlandish' manner. We sure liked them—you'd eat a spud then 'cough up' $3.72. Then we had 'Midas' tipped 'Sparrer grass.' Had to tip the waitress .328 to get 'em—but they was worth it—some of Levi T. Pennington 'Sparrer grass.' The coffee was too weak; it took a week to 'urn' enuf to pay for it. Just think o' it, ma, seven iron men for every cup! Iron nerve, says I, for asking that much."

"Sonney, didja like them 'Miles' olives? I could swallow the olives, but not the lump in my throat. Them berries cost nigh on to five samolians per dish—ain't it awful the way they have nowadays of gittin' an education? The cake was made o' dough—took a Jewish flag with ten stripes to buy it."

"The wust of all was when they robbed me for my innocence. I paid 'em a $100.00 a plate, and when I took the plate they nearly crowned me. Yu see, it was a crowning social event—and I got crowned, only I didn't feel like no angel when they got thru with me—I felt broke!"

WITH THE ALUMNI

The annual Alumni reunion and banquet of Pacific College was held at Wood-Mar Hall on Wednesday evening, June 13, at 6:30.

Preceding the dinner a social time was enjoyed, with a pleasant intermingling of old classmates and renewal of friendships begun in college.

At the long tables in the banquet hall there were fifty-seven who sat down, the faculty and the incoming class of '28 being present as guests, to which a delicious and bountiful repast was served by the ladies of the college auxiliary.

Hubert Armstrong of the class of '25 was toastmaster, and the general theme was "Aviation." Russell Lewis, '10, welcomed the class of 1928, to which Mildred Choate of that class responded with the subject, "The Take-off." Dr. Claude Lewis, '12, gave a toast on "Landing Places," and Flora Campbell, '23, spoke on "Beacon Lights," Nellie Paulson Moore, '07, on "Air Pockets," and Victor Rees, '12, on "Safe Landings."

At the business meeting which followed, Pres. Robert Dann presided. Upon the report of the nominating committee the following officers were declared elected for the ensuing year: President, Hervey Hoskins; vice-president and treasurer, Perry Macy; secretary, Jessie Britt. Mary Elliott and Stella Hubbard were appointed as members of College Corporation, and Dr. Thomas Hester was reappointed member of the College Board.

—QB—

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lienard came down from Tacoma, Wash., Friday, June 8, for a visit of several days with the latter's parents, Rev. and Mrs. George H. Lee, and to attend commencement at Pacific College. Both are former students of the college, and Mrs. Lienard (then Florence Lee) was a graduate of the class of '25.

—QB—

Henry Keeney, principal of schools at Madras, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Keeney, of this city. Mr. Keeney was a graduate of Pacific College in the class of '21.

ACADEMY AND COMMERCIAL STUDENTS GET DIPLOMAS

It is often said that school days are the happiest days of one's life—that the four years of college are the happiest. What then is in store for the one who has gone through these happiest days? Professor Dann stated that the happiest man is the one who thinks the pleasantest thoughts. "In life, we are all freshmen. Someone with greater experience will always look down on us and tell us of our ignorance. We will all be freshmen throughout life until we have become the individual in the community with the broadest experience. This should not give us an inferiority complex, however, but should cause us to look upon life with greater anticipation than ever."

The address was interspersed with interesting personal references.

The diplomas were presented by President Pennington. The following students received diplomas from the academy: Beryl Hale, Juliet Godwin, Alice Crozier, Della Hanville, Mabel Kendall, William Coleman, Raymond Neal, Donald Schmeltzer, Charles Crane, and Edward Baker. Those receiving commercial diplomas were: Dorothy Chenevert, Hallie King, Juliet Godwin, and Wilma Cornell.

And now we hear of a girl that is so dumb she can't tell a tennis racket from any other kind of noise. She even told her beau that the new young doctor was crazy about her, because he said she had acute lumbago.

THE QUAKER BOY

Ila Tozier, Margaret Jackson, Geneva Street, Ralph Choate, and Clare Howard spent a pleasant day picnicking at Twin Rocks beach last Tuesday.

—QB—

Rev. and Mrs. C. R. Choate of Idaho, and daughters, Mildred and Dorothy, Miss Marcia Holladay, sister of Mrs. Choate, and Charles Beals spent Tuesday of last week at Neskowin beach. Rev. and Mrs. Choate are in Newberg attending Yearly Meeting of the Friends church. Rev. Choate is pastor of the Friends church at Greenleaf, Idaho.

—QB—

Following the Senior class play Monday night, June 11, fifteen of the college girls assembled by invitation in Kanyon Hall, where after an interesting program of impromptu entertainment they received the surprising announcement of the engagement of Rosa Aebischer, college junior, to Mr. Ralph Hester, graduate of the class of '27. The guests were served refreshments of angel food cake, in which the announcement had been carefully concealed, and which was discovered by Retha Tucker in her piece of cake.

—QB—

Before leaving for the summer's vacation in Star, Idaho, Dick Haworth, college freshman, was entertained at a farewell dinner at the home of Miss Meredith Davey. Philip Gatch was the guest of Miss Arloene Davey. A splendid dinner was enjoyed following which Mr. Haworth was very ably entertained before his departure to the potato state.

—QB—

Many of the local students attended the Portland Rose Festival this past week, and the floral parade last Thursday, also the Rose pageant, "Where Rolls the Oregon," in the evenings of the week. Newberg Berrians entered a beautiful flower float in the contest, and received a red ribbon as second place winners, for their efforts. Miss Lois Lutz, local high school graduate, was chosen for queen of the local festivities, and rode in the Portland festival parade in the Newberg float.

—QB—

Don't forget, folks, that Newberg is to be the host for the Yamhill county C. E. convention next fall, during the period of October 5-6-7. The business sessions and meetings will probably be held in the Newberg Presbyterian church, and the C. E. banquet will be held in the new dining parlors of the Newberg Friends church. Keep the date in mind, and be looking forward to a successful convention.

—QB—

The finish of exam week found some of the boys taking to the "hills." Bill Sweet, Clare Howard, Ivan Brown and Homer Nordyke climbed Mt. Hood, thinking that they could get cooled off after the heat of exams. In fact, they got so cool that they had to turn back when they were within a mile or so of the top, due to a driving blizzard which caught them "above the timber line."

—QB—

The Senior class and the Junior class of the college have each pledged a plate at the banquet, and the Sophomore class in addition to the gift of the curtains, has pledged at least half a ticket. Faculty pledges already exceed $600 and will go still higher as soon as some decide exactly how much they can give. The Board expects to be on hand 100 per cent. The tickets cost $100 apiece.

—QB—

Pacific College is just in receipt of a valuable addition to its library through the generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Dart. This gift consists of a ten volume set of the messages and papers of the Presidents of the United States, covering the entire period from Washington to Cleveland. These are handsomely bound, and furnish a very valuable source book for the library, which is much appreciated.

A number of local students have gone to other states for summer work, including Sanford Brown, student body president, and Ben Huntington, who are working in the fish canneries of Northern Washington for the vacation days.

—QB—

Frank Cole, Crescent editor, returned to California before commencement was over, and left the issuing of the last Crescent under the direction of Philip Gatch, former editor. Mr. Cole will spend the summer in Whittier with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Cole, and will occupy a portion of his time in orchard work, but will return in the fall to resume his scholastic duties.

—QB—

Someone said that the Juniors got away nicely with old Bruin on Senior class night. They must have been rather clever to escape the "careful" plans of the Sophomores, for it is rumored that they didn't even have to "draw blood." Miraculous, says I. Signed: Q. B.

—QB—

The campaign for the $100,000 banquet to be given next September in Portland for the benefit of Pacific College is moving nicely with over $8,000 already pledged directly, and with a conditional pledge, putting the total to $20,000.

—QB—

Friday after exams found the members of the Athenas and C. E. R. clubs out at Hirter's park, where they had a delightful time getting acquainted with the water, and riding in Mr. Hirter's "rafts," to say nothing of the splendid "eats."

—QB—

A class of 53 students of the local high school were given diplomas of graduation at the Newberg Friends church Thursday night, June 7, at the annual commencement exercises.

Dinner Party Given

A delightful dinner party was given at the home of Elizabeth Carey, daughter of Rev. G. A. Carey, in honor of Miss Archie Murry of Wichita, Kansas, Saturday evening, June 16. Following the refreshments, the guests assembled in the parlor for an impromptu program of music and readings, after which they dispersed to attend Friends Yearly Meeting services. Those present were: Esther Mueller, Rachel Lundquist, Mildred Choate, Charles McClean, and Philip Gatch, also the hostess, Elizabeth Carey, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gervas Carey.

Michie (After Dick returned from trip to coast with "a friend"): "Was the weather good at the coast?"

Dick: "I didn't notice."

Host (as son plays saxophone): "Are you fond of music?"

Polite Guest: "Oh, yes, indeed! But pray don't stop him on my account."

SENIORS GIVE "MILESTONES"

The play, "Milestones," by Bennett and Knoblock was presented at the Senior Class Night program in Wood-Mar Hall on Monday evening, June 11.

Being of a more serious vein and complying with the name, the play depicted the advance of one generation in each of the three acts, and the action also made the audience feel keenly the problems faced by each successive generation in reaching and passing new milestones.

Following is the cast of characters:
 Mrs. RheadRetha Tucker
 John, her sonWendell Hutchens
 Gertrude, her daughter, Lolita Hinshaw
 Sam SibleyIvor Jones
 Rose, his sisterMay Pearson
 Ned PymBernard Newby
 Nancy Sibley, Sam's wife, Edna Ralston
 Emily Rhead, daughter of John and RoseEdris Raycraft
 Arthur PreeceCharles Beals
 Richard Sibley, son of Sam and NancyBenjamin Huntington
 Muriel Pym, daughter of Ned and EmilyLois Jones
 Lord Markhurst, her brotherJoseph Silver

In act I the action occurred in the year 1860, and was centered around John Rhead and the difficulties he faced in home and love because he believed that the future of the ship building trade lay in iron rather than wood. Contrary to the wishes of his partner, Sam Sibley, he won the hand of the fair Rose and, having lost his position in the ship building firm because of his futuristic ideas, he continued to succeed his plans.

The second act centered around the life of Emily, daughter of John and Rose, in the year 1885. Arthur Preece, a young inventor and worker in the shops of John Rhead, won the love of Emily, a repetition of the actions of the former generation. Regardless of his own youthful aspirations, John Rhead opposed the marriage of his daughter to young Preece and married her instead to Ned Pym, an old family friend.

The third act, in the year 1912, dealt with the life and affairs of Muriel and Lord Markhurst, children of Emily and Ned. A note of pathos and somewhat of humor was added throughout by Gertrude Rhead, who lived the life of a confirmed old maid after her disappointment in the love of Sam Sibley in the year 1860. In this act again with the remembrance of John and Rose Rhead, now celebrating their golden wedding, the younger generation came to the foreground with ideals and principles differing from the preceding one, and Dan Cupid played his pranks with Richard, son of Sam and Nancy, and Muriel. Throughout, Glen Rinard played the part of the servant in the house. The entire theme of the play was to not cling to old ideals when new and more important milestones are reached.

Between acts the college orchestra furnished music, and the prophecy of the Senior class, written by the Junior class, was read by Glen Rinard. Mary Mills read the Senior class will, and after the final curtain, Bruin was presented to the Junior class for safe keeping.

RELEASE

By Grace E. Hall
 There's a blur of tangled shadows
 On a cool and mossy floor,
 And the glint of idle waters
 Slapping gently at the shore;
 While the drums of hidden creatures
 Beat their rhythms through the wood,
 And bugle calls of feathered folk
 Are plainly understood.
 The forest aisles are fragrant
 And the rest men seek is there;
 One breathes it in like incense,
 For it lingers everywhere;
 And the music of the woodland,
 With its undertone of peace,
 Does strange miracles in healing,
 It brings the soul release.

Y. W. C. A.

The closing Y. W. meeting of the year was held by the Senior girls. The subject of the meeting was found in the First Psalm, which was read by Retha Tucker. Following the reading of the scripture, Marly Mills led the prayer session.

Lois Jones first spoke of the roots of the tree. "The tree should be planted where the roots can have a source of life. We should put ourselves where we can find a source of spiritual development. The roots must search for this food. The seed is the means of continuing the life of plants. We should aim to bear seeds for the continuance of our spiritual life."

The trunk of the tree was the subject on which Edna Ralston spoke. "The trunk is the connecting link between the roots and the fruit. Are we filled with growing possibilities, as is the tree? The trunk contains the heart. If the protection is removed the whole tree dies. Some trees have straight trunks; some have gnarled and crooked trunks. The storm has left its mark on the crooked tree but has not conquered it. The crooked tree has overcome the storms and lived. May we overcome adverse circumstances and grow in strength," she said.

Edris Raycraft talked of the leaves which change outside elements into that which nourishes its own life. "We should take that which is without for the nourishment of our spiritual life. Will we have leaves that are green all the year, or do our leaves die and drop off each autumn?"

Mildred Choate spoke on the fruit of the tree. "A tree must not only grow and develop but it must bear fruit. The fruits of the spirit are as a cluster of grapes. Fruit is expected. We are commanded to bring forth fruit. The vitality of the tree is judged by the fruit it bears. Fruit is the offering of the tree to the One who has cared for it."

The poem, "Trees," by Joyce Kilmer, was read by Mae Pearson.

Martha and Esther Mueller played a saxophone duet, which was followed by a vocal solo by Lolita Hinshaw.

Y. M. AND Y. W. RECEPTION

The annual Y. M. and Y. W. reception for college Seniors was held on the evening of June eighth. Room 14 of Wood-Mar Hall was tastefully decorated for the social hour, following which the group adjourned to the chapel where a short but delightful program was presented. Two piano and saxophone numbers were given by Martha and Esther Mueller; a piano solo was given by Ila Tozier, and she also accompanied a vocal solo by Miss Eva Miles. President Pennington gave a short talk on the work done by members of the Senior class in the college Christian associations. Refreshments and the singing of the Alma Mater closed the last college social function for the class of '28.
